TWO DIE IN ATLANTA AREA WRECKS—Picture shows the wreckage of the car in which Roy Jefferson McKibben, 49-year-old Marietta plumber, died last night after the machine crashed into an underpass abutment near Marietta, according to Cobb County officers. Herbert V. Caldwell was killed in the second traffic accident.

Two Killed, Three Injured in Traffic; Pedestrian Felled; Car Hits Underpass

Two persons were killed last night in as many automobile crashes in the Atlanta area, and three were seriously injured.

Roy Jefferson McKibben, 49-year-old Marietta plumber, was instantly killed when the automobile he was driving crashed into the center abutment on the Access Highway underpass near Marietta, Cobb County Patrolman L. M. McPherson said.

Witnesses said McKibben was driving approximately 55 miles per hour when the machine struck the abutment head-on, McPherson related. He said the auto was demolished.

James D. Collins, 66, of 2321 Perkerson Road, S. W., was critically injured when struck down by a car driven by a youth who was en route to a football game with a girl companion, Fulton County police reported.

Lamar Davis, 19, of Hapeville, told Ptl. Ernest Roberts and W. I. Walker he was driving along Perkerson Road, approximately 75 feet behind another machine, when the figure of a man appeared suddenly in front of his car. Patrolmen said the scene was near the Collins home.

No charge was booked against Davis pending a more thorough investigation, Roberts and Walker said. Davis said he and his "date" were en route to a football game at West Fulton High School.

A youth was killed and his brother and sister seriously injured in another Crash on Jonesboro Road, Ptl. J. B. Aiken and Olin Duncan said the three were riding in a jeep when the driver apparently was blinded by the lights of an approaching car in front of 2520 Jonesboro Road.

As the jeep struck a guy wire and utility pole to send it rolling 70 feet, the driver, Herbert V. Caldwell, 22, of the Capitol Homes Housing Project, was killed.

Betty Caldwell, 17, of 1006 Liman Ave., S. E., was admitted to Grady Hospital with both legs broken and severe cuts and bruises, while Shirling Caldwall, 21, of the Liman Avenue address, sustained a broken arm, cut and bruises.

TO TAKE BRIDE TO WORLD SERIES

Ty Cobb To Wed Widow

BUFFALO, N. Y.—(UP)—Baseball's famed Georgia Peach, Ty Cobb, last night confirmed reports that he will marry Mrs. Frances Cass, of Buffalo, in the "near future."

Mrs. Cass is the daughter of Dr. John F. Fairbairn, prominent Buffalo specialist. The announcement came from the Fairbairn's Summer home in nearby Point Abino, Ont., where Cobb is visiting.

It will be the third marriage for Mrs. Cass, who has two children. Cobb, 63, and divorced two years ago, would not elaborate on his wedding plans. He did say, however, that he intended to take his bride to the World Series.

Mayor, Seven Witnesses Advocate Annexation

By ALBERT RILEY

Extension of Atlanta's city limits by annexation rather than by consolidation or merger of city and county governments was advocated by Mayor Hartsfield and seven other witnesses before the Local Government Commission yesterday.

Almost without exception, the advocates of annexation urged that Fulton County get out of the business of performing municipal services.

They also termed the "one government" plan impractical.

In addition to Mayor Hartsfield, four of the witnesses were city officials. They included Councilmen John A. White, Ralph A. Huie and R. E. Lee Field and City Attorney J. C. Savage.

They were joined in their contentions, however, by Hughes Spalding, Harold Sheats, former Fulton County Attorney, and Claude Grizzard, Jr.

But, Fred C. Sturmer, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Garden Hills Civic Club, presented the Commission with a resolution that the Club is "unalteraby opposed" to annexation and favors a simplified streamlined one-government plan.

Sturmer praised the present City and County officials as capable, honest men, but declared the dual system of government is obsolete, inefficient and extravagent in its duplication of services that cause too high a tax burden.

Mayor Hartsfield declared that "one government is a catchy slogan, but we don't think it is feasible or pratical."

He said that surveys of Atlanta's problems for years and surveys of the expansion of other large cities have long since brought him to the conclusion that "the only practical thing for the community is to extend its limits."

In answer to a question from A. C. Lawrence, Vice Chairman of the Commission, Hartsfield said he thought the only fair thing to do would be to allow everybody in the city and county to vote on the question of annexing additional territory—not just the people in the annexed areas alone.

Expressing his opposition to the one-government plan, the Mayor pointed out that the City of Atlanta already pays 82 percent of Fulton County's taxes.

Hartsfield drew this analogy. He said he would be willing to go into partnership with a man wherein each put up $100, but he wouldn't want to go into such partnership if the partner were to reach into his (Hartsfield's) pocket for $82 and put up only $18 of his own.

The Mayor also called attention to legal difficulties of consolidation and raised the question of what would happen to the separate city and county bond obligations, pension funds and utilities franchises.

Spalding declared that "unless the city limits are extended, the City of Atlanta soon will begin to lose population," but he objected to the one-government idea.

"The Alverson Plan is fine," he said, "but it is a Utopian plan," as he pointed to difficulties of consolidation.

"I can't visualize a city government running a farming community; their needs are too diverse," he said, referring to the large rural areas of Fulton County.

Hamilton Douglas, Jr., President of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce, declared the Jaycees were ready to work for annexation, one government, joint government or any solution and said the Jaycees believe that disputes over methods have obscured the main goal.

Councilman White and others plumped for home rule, and Comer Davis, Chairman of the Fulton County Tax Assessors, urged a reappraisal of property values and equalization of assessments.

Robert L. Foreman and Robert K. Taylor, of the Metropolitan Planning Council, testified as to City-County co-operation in welfare and health activities. Sen. Mell Turner, of Decatur, warned the Commission to take no action which might impair the already small representation of Fulton County in the Legislature. Henry Gray urged expansion and employment of full-time Councilmen and Commissioners.

Duke to Sue Officials To Enforce Liquor Law

By M. L. ST. JOHN

Attorney Dan Duke announced last night he will bring legal action against sheriffs, prosecutors and police chiefs in several Georgia counties next week to force them to enforce the State liquor law.

He said he would bring similar action against State Revenue Commissioner Charlie Redwine, whom Duke, as attorney for Robert Lee, is suing for discriminating against Lee in the enforcement of the State liquor laws.

Regarding the charge, Gov. Talmadge said: "I appointed Mr. Cahrles D. Redwine as Revenue Commissioner because I knew he was an honest man. He is making every effort to enforce the liquor laws of this State and in this he has my full support."

Meanwhile, last night Special State Investigator Claude Shaw announced he is inviting Solicitors General of four circuits to attend State Revenue Department hearings Monday of five liquor dealers. He said the prosecutors are being invited to sit in on the State hearings "because the violations involve alleged violations of criminal laws." (The Revenue Department lifts licenses, while prosecuting attorneys may send violators to prison).

Solicitors invited are: W. Glenn Thomas, of the Brunswick circuit; Hubert Calhoun, Columbus circuit; Maston E. O'Neal, Albany circuit,

Was Justified In Shooting Judge Carpenter Cries To Jury In Plea for Acquittal

By CELESTINE SIBLEY

Judge Robert Carpenter broke down on the witness stand yesterday as he told the jury trying him for assault with intent to murder:

"If ever a man under the sun was justified in what I did, I believe I was justified!"

His voice broke and he wiped his forehead with a shaking hand before he concluded: "Gentlemen, I'm asking you with everything I've got to acquit me!"

The 44-year-old Judge of Fulton Civil Court was on the witness stand more than two hours. When he came down, Judge Virlyn B. Moore declared a recess until 9:30 a. m. Monday, when four or five additional witnesses, both for the defense and for the prosecution rebuttal, are expected to be questioned.

Judge Moore told the jury he hoped the case would be finished "by Monday night or Tuesday morning."

Carpenter told the jury he had not intended to shoot Lockwood.

"I wanted to talk to him, wanted to get my hands on him," he declared after relating how he saw John Lockwood drive up to his home with "Mrs. Carpenter all cuddled up against him."

He said he drove up alongside Lockwood's car on Peachtree Road and called, "Lockwood, pull over there! I want to talk to you."

"He called me a vile name and reached for his gun," Carpenter testified. "I shot him . . . I don't know if I shot him but I shot at him."

He said Lockwood pulled ahead and got out of the car but "I sat in my car—and every shot I fired came while I was sitting there." He said he did not follow Lockwood to the pit but got out and stood by his car until someone summoned the police, at his direction.

A few hours before the shooting, he testified, he passed the apartment and saw "all the lights blazing" and he drove in the driveway. As he turned around and came back out he said he saw Barbara getting out of her car. He said she weepingly told him of Lockwood's visit to her mother's bedroom when her mother was ill "from too much whiskey" and quoted her as saying her grandmother, 'Little Mother" (Mrs. Minnie Sullivan) was also 'under the influence of it." He said Barbara weepingly pleaded with him to "do something" and he hugged her and said, "Darling, I'll see."

"I went on to my mother's house," he related, "but gentlemen, I couldn't have slept that night if I'd had 400 beds."

About 2 a. m., he said, a man he didn't know called him and said, "I have just seen your wife in an automobile—he called it a Kaiser-Fraser—leaving a motor court. I knew who owned the car. I got my car and drove over to my home and parked. I hadn't been there but a few minutes when they drove up."

Carpenter said he knew Lockwood and Mrs. Carpenter both were carrying guns with the avowed intention of shooting him on sight and he did not approach them in the driveway.

Steel, Unions Agree To Eleven-Day-Truce

WASHINGTON—(AP)—In a new attempt to prevent a crippling steel strike, the Government asked CIO steelworkers and their employers to end their long-distance sparring over a contract and sit down with mediators here Monday.

The strike now is set to begin in eight days—at 12:01 a. m. Sunday, Sept. 25. President Truman has persuaded the Union and the steel companies to agree to an 11-day truce to study the recommendations of his fact-finding board issued last Saturday.

Cyrus S. Ching, Director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, summoned management and Union representatives to the mediation session here at 9:30 a. m (EST) next Monday.

In doing so, he expressed the belief there is a "good possibility" that the failure of the Union and employers to start negotiating on the fact finder's recommendations "springs not from irreconcilable fundamental differences in views, but from the meaning of words."

The President's Board recommended against the wage increase demanded by the Union, but counseled adoption of a pension-insurance "package" paid for by the companies which would raise the operating costs of most steel makers by 10 cents an hour for each employee.

The Union, headed by Philip Murray, who also is President of CIO itself, expressed its willingness to accept the 10-cent package of fringe benefits. The steel industry, however, has balked at agreeing to paying the full cost of the pension-insurance program and wishes to negotiate further on this point.

A spokesman for United States Steel Corporation, the biggest in the business, said "of course we will attend" the mediation meeting. Union officials said they had not yet received Ching's invitation and declined to commit themselves in advance. Ching himself said he assumed both sides would accept his bid, and said he would be "very much surprised" if they didn't.

The steel crisis brought these developments yesterday:

1. Murray sent telegrams to 57 companies which appeared before the Steel Fact Finding Board. He asked them to accept the recommendations of the Board that they pay pension and insurance costs. He said if they will, contract negotiations can resume promptly.

2. Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, the nation's fourth largest steel producer, replied it believes "good faith bargaining does not permit one side to exact prior commitments from the other party" as a condition precedent to sitting down to bargain.

3. Bethlehem Steel Company also replied to Murray that it is convinced "neither side should attach conditions to its willingness to discuss in collective bargaining the problems that are in controversy." It renewed its offer "to resume collective bargaining with your Union."

4. Murray ordered his potent Wage Policy Committee to meet in Pittsburgh next Wednesday at 9 a. m. (EST).

The Committee presumably will decide the Union's future course of action.

5. Murray fired off another telegram to Pres. Benjamin F. Fairless, of United States Steel, in which he again asked Fairless to open contract talks on Murray's conditions. He repeated his charge that "Big Steel" is trying to force a strike and again said U. S. Steel and other companies would be responsible for any work stoppage.

6. Inland Steel accused the Union of "refusal to bargain" and said Murray's insistence on accepting the recommendations was "a refusal to comply with the law."

7. In Cleveland, Union District Director William Donovan ordered 17 union locals to begin strike preparations. Similar moves are under way in the Youngstown, Ohio, area.

Aderhold Hits School Weakness

By BILL HARRELL
Constitution Staff Writer

MILLEDGEVILLE — Dr. O. C. Aderhold, President of the Georgia Education Association, last night felt the pulse of the State school program, diagnosed its illnesses, and called for the filling of prescriptions with a variety of ingredients.

The GEA head, addressing more than 200 educators from every district in Georgia at the two-day second annual GEA Planning Conference, labeled the immediate need as that of "getting the minimum foundation program financed, and improving and strengthening our own professional organization."

"More than 20,000 lay and professional people in Georgia have pointed out weaknesses in our present program and have made specific suggestions for improvements," he said.

Dr. Aderhold listed the following weaknesses:

(1) The school does not reach enough people six to 18 years of age. Little isdone for the preschool child, except in centers of wealth. There is practically no program except college offerings for the 18 to 25 years of age group.

(2) Too many schools are primarily helping children to acquire certain subject matter assigned in text books. Not enough emphasis is placed on the application and use of the subject matter in life activities.

(3) Children read the importance of sanitation but too often not enough is done about dirty class rooms, toilets and play grounds. Children memorize the health rules but little guidance is provided in developing good health habits.

(4) Opportunities for growth in the creative arts are too limited.

(5) Only a few schools give adequate attention to occupational guidance.

(6) The masses of students have

Court Upholds Voter Act; Must Re-Register

By M. L. ST. JOHN

Georgians are going to have to re-register to vote.

This was decided yesterday by the State Supreme Court, which unanimously upheld constitutionality of the Voter Registration Act of 1949.

The Court pointed out that no one claimed he was illegally prohibited from registering under the new law.

Atlanta Negro leaders have announced they plan Federal Court action when they find registrars discriminating against Negro voter applicants.

Without plainly commenting on the charges that the new law carries out Gov. Talmadge's campaign promise to eliminate "Negro bloc voting" and provide "as white a primary as we can get," the Supreme Court said that the purpose of the act, as a whole, is to require all persons who are qualified to vote under the Constitution to register before voting. If the Legislature had other or additional purposes, which, considered apart it had no constitutional power to make effective, that would not have the result of making the Act invalid.

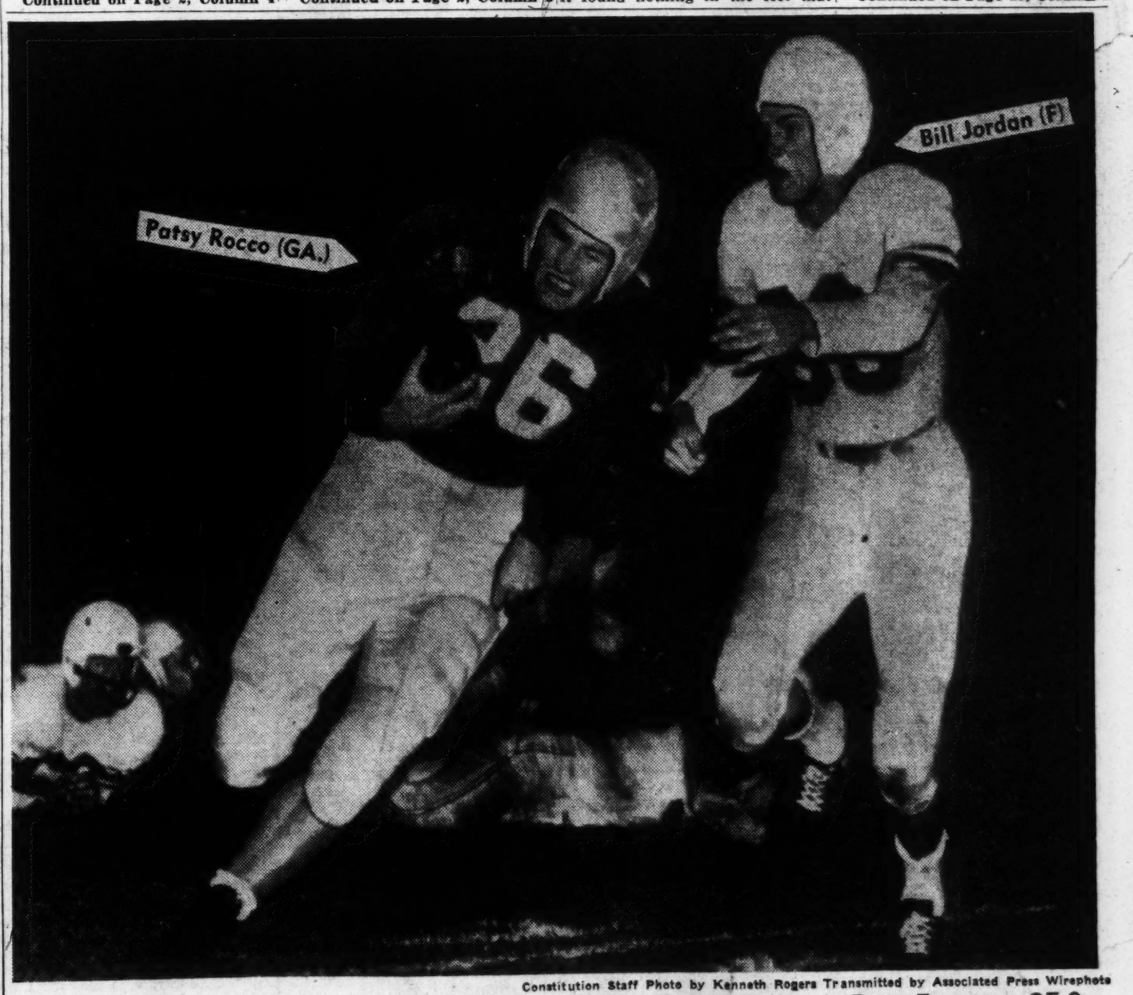

The Court, in an opinion written by Justice Bond Almand, said it found nothing in the Act that indicates the law denies any qualified voter the right to register on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude. The mere possibility that the registrars might act arbitrarily in administering the law and violate constitutional rights is not a ground for declaring the Act unconstitutional, the Court said.

In ruling on the constitutionality of the new law, the Supreme Court affirmed the Richmond Superior Court in ordering the Richmond County Commissioners to pay the new board of registrars authorized by the law. In Augusta, a source close to County Commissioner Chairman David Franklin felt that he would attempt to influence the Board to appeal the case to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Meanwhile Gov. Talmadge said that the Re-registration Act was designed to eliminate "bloc voting" in Georgia and was in keeping with his campaign pledge. He said the new act simply puts teeth into laws that existed prior to its passage and that the people have nothing to fear from it.

First effect of the Court ruling will be a rush by counties to set up registration offices and start registering voters. Only 3[illegible] counties had begun re-registering. Few

SPEAKS UP FOR CLIENTS

Committeeman Elliott Denies Rum Favors

COLUMBUS—(AP)—J. Robert Elliott, Democratic National Committeeman for Georgia and Columbus attorney, yesterday denied that his clients have been shown any political favoritism in State liquor operations.

He issued the following statement: "The law firm of which I am a member has had the privilege of representing Columbus Wine Company for a number of years. We represent Donald M. Leebern and we represented his father before him. We have represented them during various political administrations, including the administrations of Gov. Ellis Arnall, Acting Gov. Thompson and the present Gov. Talmadge, and insofar as we know at no time during any of these administrations has Columbus Wine Company or Mr. Leebern been shown any political favoritism."

LIQUOR

and George Haines, Augusta circuit.

Duke said he now is in process of drawing up mandamus proceedings to file in several counties. He declared that the laws are clear, and that the facts, the names of persons, and all other information reflecting these law violations are on record in the State Department of Revenue.

"Until all wholesalers and retailers who have violated the statutes in wet counties as well as dry counties are made to adhere to the law's commands, there will be no fair and impartial justice under law in the liquor industry in Georgia," Duke said. "Until the bar rooms and private clubs that are purchasing liquor without a retail license, selling in broken packages and permitting the same to be consumed on the premises are closed in wet counties, the enforcement of the laws in wet counties is a mockery and a farce and the public officials who have long tolerated these flagrant violations are failing to do that which the law commands shall be done."

Lee, a wholesaler whose license was lifted recently when he pleaded guilty to selling liquor in dry counties, sued Commissioner Redwine for $1,000 and asked restoration of his license on the grounds that Redwine is discriminating against him.

In his petition in Fayette County Superior Court, Lee charged that the State Revenue Department permitted five wholesalers to go unpunished because they are influential in Talmadge circles.

He challenged constitutionality of the warehouse fee, which had been raised from 50 cents a case to $4 a case. He stated that the Revenue Department could legally charge only enough to pay the expenses of the warehouse operations. The fee was increased to raise additional revenue for school teachers.

Lee's suit also outlined an alleged political battle between two liquor factions for control of the dry county business in 1947. He listed the competitors as John Horace Bowen, on the one hand, and Harry Woodward, President of the Georgia Distilled Spirits Institute, on the other. He said Bowen joined Woodward when he found he was unable to beat him.

Producing photostatic copies of records, Lee said he violated the State laws with the knowledge and consent of Redwine. He said he listed sales he made to unauthorized dealers in dry Counties as well as in wet Counties. He charged that other dealers are violating these laws, and that Redwine's proceedings against him are arbitary and unfair.

State Liquor Investigator Claude Shaw and Revenue Commissioner Redwine announced yesterday that five wholesalers, including two alleged top Talmadge friends, have been cited to show cause Monday why their licenses should not be revoked. They said the orders were prepared Wednesday (prior to filing of Lee's suit). Shaw termed it an effective answer to Lee's charges that friends of Gov. Talmadge are being protected.

Those cited are:

Columbus Wine and Distributing Company, operated by Donald Leeburn, with separate licenses in Albany and Columbus. He is represented by Democratic National Committeeman Robert Elliott.

Sans Souci Distributing Company, of Albany, operated by Dan Brosnan. He is represented by Mayor "Taxi" Smith, a Talmadge leader.

Albany Wholesalers, operated by Charles Tyson.

Brunswick Beverages, Inc., operated by A. P. Leotis.

United Distributing Company, of Augusta, operated by Paul Rubens.

Lee's suit charged Redwine with protecting Sans Souci and Columbus Wine, among others.

In Augusta, former House Speaker Roy Harris accused Redwine of "putting the Governor behind the eight ball" with the liquor investigation. If Redwine stops with a "few whipping boys," he will be open to severe criticism, Harris pointed out. If he enforces all the laws, he will incur the enmity of big hotels in Atlanta, and most hotels, restaurants, Elks Clubs, American Legion and VFW posts over the State, and 400 liquor dealers, Harris said.

At Macon, former Acting Gov. M. E. Thompson commented: "As the whole truth about the liquor business is revealed to the public, the Talmadge crowd, at the mention of the word liquor, will be gnashing their teeth instead of smacking their lips."

Senate Turns Down Truman's $70,000-a-Year Helper

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Senate yesterday rejected President Truman's appointment of Carl A. Ilgenfritz, U. S. Steel Corporation official, to head the Munitions Board.

It voted 40 to 28 to disapprove Ilgenfritz for the post.

The opposition was chiefly a protest against White House-approved plans for Ilgenfritz to continue drawing a $70,000-a-year salary from the steel company while serving in the Government post.

Sen. Byrd, Democrat, Virginia, who led the fight against confirmation of the appointment, contended that would establish a dangerous custom under which big corporations dealing with the Government might be allowed in the future to subsidize Government officials.

Byrd said he was not questioning Ilgenfritz character or abilities. But he noted that U. S. Steel has an important stake in military orders.

As Chairman of the Munitions Board, Ilgenfritz would have had charge of advance planning of wartime industrial mobilization, assigning military buying duties and fixing priorities for such buying.

In a telegram read to the Senate before it voted, Ilgenfritz offered chairmanship. But he expressed doubt that any such action would be legal.

Sen. Johnson, Democrat, Colorado, suggested at one point during the debate that Congress pass a bill permitting Ilgenfritz to work for the Government for $1 a year. Chairman Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, of the Armed Services Committee, who defended the appointment, said that was agreeable with him. But Sen. Donnell, Republican, Missouri, said that would not solve the problem.

CARPENTER REVEALS DETAILS OF HIS MARRIAGE DIFFICULTIES

gles to get an education and to get ahead in the hotel business, the defendant reached his relationship with John Lockwood toward the end of his statement. He said he and Mrs. Carpenter "had our ups and downs like any family but we did the best we could" and declared he would "gladly have given her everything I had to have gotten straightened out and gone back to her. I loved my wife!"

He said he met Mrs. Carpenter when she was Helen Fite, a divorcee making between $80 and $110 a month, working for the Kraft Cheese Company, and frequently had her baby Barbara with them on dates "because she didn't have anybody to leave her with.

"I learned to love the child then and I love her with all my heart today," he declared, saying later, "she's all I've got left out of this mess."

Carpenter said the first he knew of a romantic relationship between his wife and Lockwood came from Lockwood's daughter, who made an appointment and visited him in his office and said:

"I'm extremely embarrassed. I'm here in the interest of my mother. I'm here to talk to you about my father and your wife."

He described himself as "electrified" by the information and said he later called Mrs. Lockwood and learned that she had overheard many telephone conversations between his wife and Lockwood which "weren't business conversations." He said Mrs. Lockwood's daughter told him the day Judge Carpenter moved out of his home—at the direction of Mrs. Carpenter—Mr. Lockwood moved out of his wife's bedroom. He said Mrs. Lockwood sought his advice on retaining an attorney and told him she had opened a safety deposit box and had found all of Judge Carpenter's insurance policies and many of Mrs. Carpenter's records in her husband's possession.

He quoted the Lockwood's daughter as saying "they're somewhere in Florida—I don't know where. Mother's afraid he'll do her like he did his former wife. He went off and left his first wife and two children and mother's afraid he is going to do that to her."

He said Mrs. Lockwood told him Lockwood was angered when he learned she had possession of the key to the safety deposit vault and threatened to kill her. He said he was "flabbergasted" by the information and went immediately to the Imperial Hotel.

"I went there and got my records—sure I got 'em!" he declared. He said Lockwood returned from Florida and called him up but in the meantime Mrs. Lockwood had telephoned and warned him, "You better look out. John left here with two pistols. Have you changed your insurance yet?"

He said Lockwood told him "WE want OUR records returned within an hour," and he jeered, "YOU want YOUR records? I've got information you're going with my wife and I'm telling you, you'd better stop it."

He said Lockwood told him he would shoot him on sight if he did not return the records, and he replied, "I believe I can take care of myself."

Carpenter said if he had had "presence of mind enough and had taken a police officer to the Imperial Hotel and let him take charge of Room 501, (Lockwood's room) no jury on earth would have indicted, much less convicted me!"

"That room concealed the answer to the whole thing!" he declared, "And that's why Mrs. Carpenter went there the morning after the shooting—before even Lockwood's children could get there."

He said he found among Lockwood's effects, when he removed his records from the Imperial Hotel, a letter showing that Lockwood was attempting to get Mrs. Carpenter a divorce in Mexico and a copy of Lockwood's will, disinheriting his children, limiting his wife to what the Georgia law guarantees a widow and naming Mrs. Carpenter as "sole executrix, to serve without bond and without accounting."

Carpenter said Lockwood, his friend and lawyer, kept telling him to "let Helen feel more comfortable about things," urging him to sign over more and more of his property to his wife. He said he had "absolute confidence that the thing would be straightened out and I would be back home in a few days" but was unable to talk to his wife "without Lockwood showing up."

He said shortly prior to April 8, when he and Mrs. Carpenter were separated, there had been dissension in their home. "She'd been fussing and carrying on and I couldn't make out what was the matter. But when she gets like that I try to stay away from her around the house as much as possible, thinking maybe she'll get over it."

He said he thought he had made his peace with his wife the night of April 6, and they had spent the evening at home together with Barbara, adding, "Things couldn't have been nicer." The next night he was home about 5:30 p. m., he testified, and he and Barbara, tired of waiting for Mrs. Carpenter, had started dinner about 8 p. m. when she came home and went up stairs announcing she was not going to eat. He said he followed her and she "started fussing again" and the next morning she said she wanted to "see the books" at the hotel. He quoted himself as saying, "Sure, you can see them all you want to" and said he subsequently took her to the hotel and directed that she have full access to the records.

The Judge testified that he had the books sent up to one of the rooms and "casually, Lockwood showed up." He said his wife asked, "Do you mind if John Lockwood goes up there and explains thing to me?" and he said he agreed but later asked lightly if Lockwood was acting as her lawyer. He testified that Lockwood arose and said, "Bob, you know I'm not representing her. You both are good friends of mine. I wouldn't represent either of you in a divorce suit."

After Mrs. Carpenter had gone over the books with Lockwood she suddenly told her husband she wanted him to get his things and leave home, the defendant said. He said he moved, thinking it was a temporary arrangement, but after that it became increasingly difficult to see his wife without Lockwood, although he sent her flowers on Easter and Mother's Day.

"You could never have convinced me in this world that she would have filed all those suits," he declared. "Gentlemen, if it hadn't been for John Lockwood I would never have been separated from my wife."

On the subject of Mrs. Estelle Manful, fleet-footed beauty who is still to be served with a $100,000 alienation of affections suit brought by Mrs. Carpenter, the defendant said: "This thing about some other woman is an absolute untruth from top to bottom."

The reconciliation between Mr. and Mrs. Lockwood, which Mrs. Lockwood earlier indicated when she said, "My husband is back home!" does not exist, Judge Carpenter said. "Lockwood didn't move back home. His sons took his clothes back there when he was in the hospital. He won't be there when this thing is over either!"

Carpenter said the Lockwoods moved here from Philadelphia and enlisted his help in finding a house, got him to introduce him to his friends and the two families were so friendly his daughter, Barbara, was in their daughter's wedding and he gave a reception for the newlyweds.

He said Lockwood said he had retired but he had some money to invest and he asked questions about investing in the Cox-Carlton Hotel, which Carpenter was operating.

"I didn't know then whether he had a dime or $10,000,000," Carpenter said. "He looked over the books and thought it was a good investment so he put in $30,000—and I paid him back $1,000 a month at seven percent interest. I paid him back every penny I owed him, too!"

The night before he shot Lockwood, Carpenter cried with his adopted daughter over the way her mother was acting, the 20-year-old girl told the jury yesterday.

Telling how she slipped down to her car with her raincoat over her pajamas to get a book and saw Judge Carpenter drive in the driveway, Barbara said, "I was glad to see him. I went over and told him what had happened about Mr. Lockwood going upstairs to mother's room that night . . . and I became upset and started crying. I told him mother had a dinner engagement and I knew she was out with John Lockwood and I asked him if there was anything he could do, or if there was anything I could do."

"Was your daddy crying too, Miss Barbara?" asked Atty. Barrett.

"Yes, sir, I believe he was," said Barbara.

The blonde, blue-eyed girl told the jury she and her mother and father had been happy until Lockwood came along. She placed the time when their homelife began to change for the worse at "six months—nine months ago," and said: "Mother cried a lot. She wouldn't tell me why. John Lockwood would call her up and tell her things about daddy that he made up."

"How long would they talk, Miss Barbara?" asked Atty. Ellis Barrett.

"Sometimes an hour, sometimes longer."

"Would Mr. Lockwood call while your daddy was at home?"

"No, sir. Never while daddy was at home."

The witness, speaking in a barely audible voice but otherwise apparently composed, testified that Lockwood's calls "gradually worked up to every day" and added, "Mother would cry for hours and hours." She said her mother frequently referred to "John—John said—and that would be the whole conversation."

"That kept up quite some time," she said, "and it got to where we didn't have anything to say to each other. All mother could talk about was John."

She said, "John said if mother started drinking a glass of wine before dinner, it would improve her appetite."

"Was there anything wrong with your mother's appetite?" inquired Barrett.

Barbara smiled slightly. "No, sir. She looked very healthy."

She said her mother told her "daddy spent all his money and was letting his business drop off and was not taking care of his affairs and Mr. Lockwood said any moment he could throw the whole thing into bankruptcy." She quoted Lockwood as saying "daddy borrowed a lot of money from him—but he didn't tell me daddy had paid it back."

"I never had heard anything bad about him before," Barbara went on, "and I wouldn't believe what they said. One day mother called up Mr. Lockwood and said, 'Barbara wants to see some proof' and arranged for us to go down to the hotel and see him."

She said Lockwood exhibited some papers with figures on them and a picture of "daddy and Mrs. Manful." She added it didn't "mean anything to me" and I wouldn't believe anything bad against daddy."

The young woman said she was unable to talk to her mother and two days before the shooting she wrote her a note and sent it to her by the maid. She said her mother told her she would give her an answer but she had not received one. The letter, which the witness identified as the carbon of the one sent to her mother, was introduced in evidence.

The pressed orchid, under glass, which had been barred from the courtroom before, was reintroduced and Barbara identified it as one which Lockwood had given her mother and which she had pressed and framed at her mother's instructions. She said she delivered it to her mother at the hotel and her mother said "she thought John would be very pleased."

"Did your daddy ever give your mother an orchid, Miss Barbara?" asked Barrett.

"Yes, sir. Daddy gave her one about a couple of weeks before."

"Did she carry your daddy's orchid to be pressed and framed?"

"No, sir," answered the witness.

"I'll ask you," said Barrett, "if John Lockwood ever visited your home while your father was away?"

"Yes, sir."

She told of a night when her grandmother (Mrs. Minnie Sullivan) entered her room and "told me to call a doctor, my mother was desperately ill." She said she went to her mother's room and found that her mother "had been drinking and was nauseated." She said she didn't think it was necessary to call a doctor but Lockwood arrived at the front door shortly.

"Mr. Lockwood seemed upset and wanted to know what was wrong with mother," she related. She said he went to her mother's room and sat on the side of the bed and "then mother asked everyone to leave the room, she wanted to talk to John alone."

She said she went to her room and cried herself to sleep. She said she later received a "cordial" invitation to return, "but I was indignant because I was asked to leave and I wouldn't go back."

To refute prosecution testimony that Carpenter wished to "get rid" of his wife and daughter, Barrett questioned the girl closely about Carpenter's treatment of her. She said he adopted her following her mother's marriage to him, "when I was four years old," and she had since borne his name and been supported by him. She said he sent her to Napsonian School and to esleyan for two years and he gave her an allowance of $100 a month while she was in college.

Carpenter began with the usual courtroom formality, "If the court pleases, gentlemen of the jury," and talking easily and sometimes with wry humor, told of his impoverished boyhood and struggles to get an education.

He said he was born in 1904 on a farm near Rockmart and that he stayed on the farm, "picking peas and chopping cotton" from the time he learned to walk until he realized the need of more education and went away to school. He described the rocky, poor soil and touched lightly on the struggles of his mother, now 77 years old, and his father, now 82.

He transferred from the Rockmart schools to a school at Calhoun to get the proper credits for entrance to Emory University, but spent his Summers on the farm. "I recall so vividly," he said, "how it was the last time I was there. It was a 200-acre farm, heavily mortgaged, and my father was just a mediocre farmer. I cut wheat with a cradle—and that was the hardest work I remember, except picking cotton. I always said that was the hardest."

He said he cut cord wood for 50 cents a cord all Summer and had been at Emory University for three weeks before the University discovered he was "not paid a thing" and helped him to arrange to work for his tuition and board—an exceptional arrangement for freshmen, he said.

He said he held various jobs at night until he finally got one as clerk at the old Martinique Hotel, moving from there to the Biltmore, to the Briarcliff and finally to the Imperial, which he ran for Emory University.

He said it took him six years to get his law degree and he did not get his liberal arts degree until "some time after 1940" when, already serving on the Civil Court bench, he returned to night school and secured the necessary credits. He said he entered politics at the insistence of Miss Allie Mann, former principal at Girls High, with whom he boarded. He ran first for City Council and was appointed to the Civil Court bench in 1939.

SCHOOL PROBLEMS AIRED

little help in learning to become skillful in solving social problems.

Dr. Anderhod said the same planning groups which pointed out the weaknesses recommended establishing community elementary schools, near the homes of the people, and comprehensive secondary schools.

Dr. Aderhold called for the GEA to take the lead in obtaining more and better trained teachers to do the kind of job envisioned by the State's lay and educational leaders. He advocated a beginning salary of $2,400 annually for persons prepared as teachers. The GEA leader said the transportation must be improved. "We must move toward a State-owned and operated system at the earliest possible opportunity," he urged.

Turning to building needs, he said, "We should hang our heads in shame as long as 40 percent of the white schools are unifit for school purposes and 94 percent of the Negro buildings."

Dr. Aderhold pointed to the need for more and better instructional materials, expanded curriculum, and greater personnel and services.

Dr. Aderhold asked the GEA to spearhead efforts to obtain legislation whereby county school superintendents be elected by the county boards of education. The superintendents now are elected by the people, who also elect the boards.

"The State's contribution to higher education is inadequate for making available educational opportunities comparable to those for youth in other States," he charged.

"The average income for Georgia is higher than for most of the other Southern States."

Before listing the current needs, Dr. Aderhold cited impressive figures showing the tremendous strides Georgia education has taken since 1900.

Clayton Ordinary Slates Election

Clayton County Ordinary Frank Adamson has set Oct. 22 as tentative date for election of a new County Commissioner to fill the vacancy declared by the Georgia Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court held last Wednesday that the post held by John C. Hulgan is vacant. Hulgan's right to the office was contested by Howard Thornton, defeated candidate for the office last November, on grounds Hulgan had been convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude (larceny and transportation of an automobile in 1932).

The Supreme Court ruled a full pardon granted Hulgan by President Truman did not make him eligible to hold office. By law, the post will be vacant for 10 days following the court's decision, after which Adamson will act as commissioner until the post is filled.

DIDN'T JUST HAPPEN

Morningside Presbyterians Eying Vast New Edifice

By PAUL JONES
Constitution Church Editor

Almost every Sunday thousands of motorists pause along Morningside Drive near Highland Avenue to feast their eyes upon the new Morningside Presbyterian Church, which is nearing completion.

Situated in the middle of a wooded eight-acre tract, this new sanctuary promises to become one of Atlanta's beauty spots. Its vast area lends itself naturally to large recreation areas where families can hold picnics, civic organizations can hold outings and where Boy Scouts can build campfires and camp.

Morningside Presbyterian didn't "just happen" to select this particular spot for its $500,000 church. It did it with a purpose in mind. For, at Morningside Presbyterian, religion is a seven-day-a-week proposition, working into family and community life. When its new building is completed, The Rev. Arthur Van Gibson, Minister, hopes to make this church a part of community life—"not just something that was tacked on."

When Morningside Church first contemplated its half-million-dollar building program, Dr. Gibson conducted a survey on the average Atlanta family.

He found that fewer than two-thirds of married couples in Atlanta have children under 10 years old. He found that one-third of families in Atlanta consist of only two people.

He found that in the larger cities such as Atlanta there are fewer marriages, more divorces and lower birth rates than in smaller communities. He learned that the average residence of an Atlanta family in one place is less than 22 months.

Multiple dwellings or vertical housing were contributing factors in the downfall of many homes, he said.

"There are no lawns to mow, no furnaces to fire, no taxes to pay and this type housing does not offer enough opportunity for family participation in the responsibilities of a community, he explained.

Another disturbing factor which Dr. Gibson found was that home life during the past 100 years has progressed through three different stages.

At first the father, or man of the house, was supreme. The mother then became the guiding force in home life, he said. But, now, children "run the entire show."

Fathers are consumed with club activity, or they have become "golf conscious" and other forms of outside activity.

Dr. Gibson said he found, through his survey, that three adjustments should be made before a couple is married.

First, a thorough understanding on religious faith is necessary for complete happiness, he said. Marriages involving people of entirely different religious faiths breed divorces or unhappy homes oftentimes, he pointed out.

Secondly, an understanding should be made on the economic problems confronting a home before marriage. Both husband and wife should recognize their responsibilities and operate within their income.

The third and most important problem confronting happy home life is the problem of marital relations and children. Dr. Gibson says if necessary, couples should adopt two—not just one—children because "children are a definite asset to happy home life."

He said a home of their own gives the family a sense of "oneness." Members of the family are then able to reflect on the past and point to "things we did here," he said.

All of this was taken into consideration when Morningside Presbyterian Church's officers and its minister sat down with the architect and began planning the vast new program.

When the congregation moves into the new building in October, it will have one of the most "complete" religious and community programs scheduled anywhere in Atlanta.

The new program incorporates a recreation building amidst the beautiful wooded area which reaches almost two blocks in one direction and a complete block in another.

There will be a new Boy Scout hut and barbecues will be held. Provisions for outdoor games will be made and this program will be emphasized because Morningside Presbyterian wants its facilities to be used.

The new church building will have, in addition to its picturesque sanctuary or auditorium, a large, plush reception room which will be carpeted and furnished with overstuffed chairs and sofas in which informal meeting of church groups and civic and educational organizations will be held.

A massive auditorium which will be equipped for showing movies will be open to such organizations as the P-TA, civic groups and fraternal organizations. This large hall will be furnished without charge. The church will provide lighting and heat. Wood fuel for barbecues and picnics will be furnished free.

All facilities of the new Morningside Church will be made available for people of all faiths and its use by Jews, Christians and Catholics as well as Protestants will be encouraged.

Miss Nancy Johnson, Director of Religious Education at Morningside Presbyterian Church, will be in charge of the stepped-up program in the new church. Her training in physical education has equipped her to direct the outdoor activities within the church, also.

Dr. Gibson says a "church can not justify its existence simply by its worship function. It must become a part of community life.

"The Church has got to get behind the family and save it. It is no longer up to the family to save the Church."

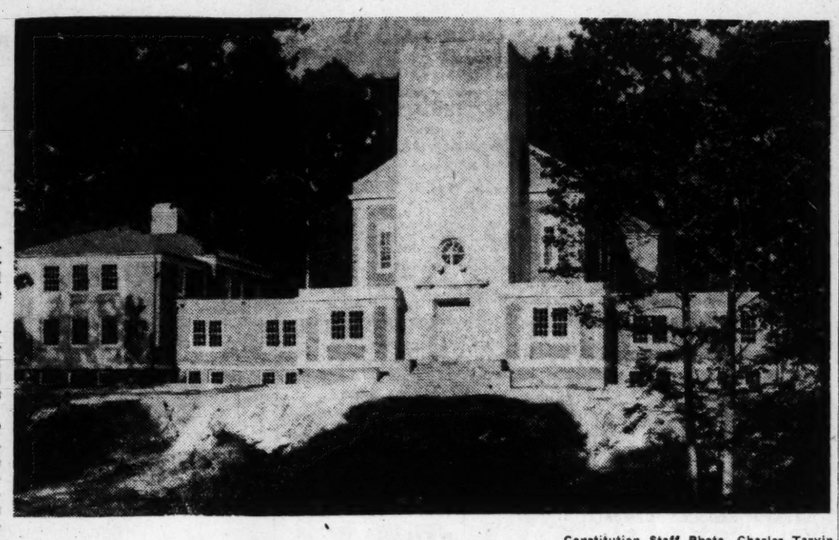

Morningside Presbyterian's program of community activity already has drawn the praise of scores of ministers and prominent lay people of other Protestant denominations. They have expressed the belief that this type church, which embraces both worship and community life, is the "church of the future."

Members of the Morningside church are proud of the new program, too. For, within the brief span of 20 years this congregation has grown from a modest mission church into one of the most important congregations in the Atlanta Presbytery. Although situated in a community which houses people of modest to average incomes, members have been among the most generous contributors to church offerings in the Presbytery.

All church officers have joined with these members of the building committee in driving over the $500,000 project: D. A. Ahlstrand, Chairman; C. C. Mason, Jr., First Vice Chairman; Knox Walker, Second Vice Chairman; H. H. Fettes, Secretary; A. C. Gross, Assistant Secretary, and D. W. Lyon, Treasurer.

Vote Law Is Upheld

The Georgia Supreme Court has upheld the reregistration law.

The decision was unanimous. But the case is sure to go to the U. S. Supreme Court. The issue is far from settled.

Administration forces carefully drafted the reregistration law in an attempt to comply with court decisions affirming the right of Negroes to vote. Particular attention was paid to the decision outlawing the so-called Boswell Amendment in Alabama, which, the court said, was invalid because under it registrars in each county were able to determine, without a firm criterion, who was qualified to vote.

With the Boswell decision in mind, the Georgia law provides for a literacy test and, if the applicant fails that, an oral test comprising 30 simple questions which are written into the law.

Registrars determine whether the applicant passes the tests, but appeals from their decision may be taken to court.

Opponents of the law charge that registrars are given arbitrary power to "take away the liberties of voters of the State of Georgia without due process of law."

On this point the Georgia Supreme Court declared: "The mere possibility that the Board of Registrars may under this statute act arbitrarily and recklessly in administering the law and thereby violate constitutional rights is not a ground for declaring the act as a whole unconstitutional.

"We can find nothing in the act that indicates the law has the effect of denying to any qualified voter the right to register on account of race, color. . . ."

The Court went further to point out that the complaining party did not claim that he or anyone else had been denied the right to register under the law. That appears to have been the key to the decision.

Actually, the percentage of Negroes to whites registering under the new act runs higher than was qualified under the old law. About 13½ percent on the old voters' lists are Negroes. In a recent State-wide survey, the Macon News found about 15 percent of new registrations were by Negroes.

Because of doubt as to the validity of the new law only 44 Georgia counties have made any effort at reregistration, and only a trickle of registrants has greeted those efforts.

Effect of the new decision is to clear the air only to a degree, for this case or a similar one, likely will be taken direct to the U. S. Supreme Court. That can be done because a constitutional question is involved. That may mean a final decision will be many, many months way.

We Hope Her Luck Holds

The Constitution congratulates Carey O'Kelley, that Clarke County miss whose Jersey cow, Roselea Val's Ann, won the Georgia Jersey grand championship on her owner's thirteenth birthday.

We earnestly hope Miss O'Kelley's luck will hold when the 4-H Club lass takes the Georgia champ to the All-American Jersey show in Memphis next week in search of the national title.

Selling Democracy Short

When LaGrange, Ga., voted the other day to adopt the city manager plan, only about 14 percent of the city's eligible voters went to the polls.

Atlanta voters did a little better in the recent municipal election, but for the most part municipal rule has come to mean government for the people by and of one out of every six or seven of the people.

And that is selling democracy short.

Columbus and Marietta Were Ready

The Constitution congratulates the cities of Columbus and Marietta on the alacrity with which they have taken advantage of the new Federal Public Housing Act.

Columbus received approval on Tuesday of a loan to be used in the construction of 800 low-rent housing units.

On Wednesday the City of Marietta was advised that 125 low-rent units had been assigned as its initial share of the new public housing program.

Evidently, officials of the two cities had their lamps filled and trimmed, ready for the match when Congress passed the housing act.

Preparedness is now paying off in projects that will mean slum clearance and better housing.

There are few Georgia cities that cannot stand a lot of both.

JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP

Taft, Eisenhower and the Political Future

WASHINGTON—Sen. Robert A. Taft's first Ohio speeches indicate a vital fact. Taft evidently believes that an out-and-out isolationist campaign is the best way to make his crucial fight for re-election to the Senate. This is not only the appeal he will make to the Ohio voters. It is also the appeal by which he hopes to win the Republican Presidental nomination two years after the Ohio voting.

Obviously, if Taft is victorious next year, the already strong isolationist tendency of the Right Wing Republicans will be immensely fortified and intensified. And in part for this very reason, the stand Taft has taken is tending to raise up powerful opponents against him.

As has been previously reported in this space, the Democratic national leadership has left the choice of a candidate to beat Taft to the united and embattled labor groups. With one or two exceptions, the Ohio Democratic leaders have now taken the same stand. And the man who has been tapped is the Farm Bureau and Co-operative movement leader, the picturesque and personable Murray D. Lincoln.

Although Lincoln has by now received assurances of support that would persuade most political hopefuls, he has been hesitating for a personal reason. He draws his only salary as President of the Co-operative League, whose farmer directors are strongly Republican. If he makes the race against Taft, he will lose his job and his livelihood. Until Taft began preaching the narrowest isolationist doctrine all over Ohio, Lincoln was inclined against yielding to the pressure on him. He is a man of intense convictions, however; and the challenge to these convictions offered by Taft's campaign strategy is tending to draw him into the fight. It is now a good bet that Lincoln will run.

There is no use trying to forecast the outcome of the most important, and most disputed, State election in a great many decades. Even if Lincoln runs, Taft may perhaps win. It is further possible that the resulting increase of congressional isolationism will produce some sort of international catastrophe even before 1952. But whatever other results may ensue, a Taft victory in Ohio can be counted on to stimulate very powerfully another major Republican development.

To put it bluntly, those who know him are convinced that Dwight D. Eisenhower will be infinitely more receptive to the Republican nomination if the party's only other alternative is the out-and-out isolationist, Senator Taft. There is no need to expatiate on the depth and strength of General Eisenhower's belief in the critical importance of American world leadership. Anyone who knows him and his record is aware that he thinks a revival of isolationism will doom the the cause of freedom in the world.

Of late, moreover, Eisenhower has shown signs of increasing political interest, both in his speeches, and in the attention with which he has been following the national situation. And it is not insignificant that a number of the same men who financed the Willkie and Dewey campaigns for the Republican nomination, in 1940 and 1948, are now reported to be lining up for an effort for Eisenhower.

Undoubtedly, of course, the idea of seeking the nomination has not as yet even crystallized in Eisenhower's mind. But it is also undoubted that if Senator Taft is the leading contender, Eisenhower will hardly be able to resist the resulting political and moral pressure to make the race. Last time, beside his strong argument that no officer should go straight from the Army into politics, Eisenhower often pointed out to would-be supporters that there were plenty of strong alternative contestants. He used particularly to mention Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg.

Now, however, there is no longer any question of Sen. Vandenberg leaving his present great position to try for the presidency. Equally, although Thomas E. Dewey may wish to be a king-maker, and would find Eisenhower an easy king to make, the New York Governor must be credited with enough good sense not to seek the top place a third time. As for Harold E. Stassen, he is in the uncomfortable position of being pretty well debarred from political progress in his adopted Pennsylvania, unless he makes an abhorrent alliance with the prehistoric Grundy-Owlett faction. The other possible Republican contenders all suffer from comparable handicaps. Thus, if Taft wins in Ohio, the chances are that Eisenhower will have to choose between stepping down from his nonpolitical pedestal, or letting Taft take over the Republican Party by default.

All this is perhaps peering too far into the future. But these long-range speculations both have some foundation in the present, and serve to emphasize a vital point. The Ohio election was already sufficiently important before Taft made his isolationist choice. It is now not exaggerating to say that the national future may hang on the outcome.

RALPH McGILL

The Best Gift For Children

A night or so ago I was at one of those dinners where there are several hundred persons and the service is of necessity slow.

I was next to a man whose only child, a son, has done well. The father is in a higher income bracket, but he had given his son no unusual advantages. The boy had gone to the State University, had married soon after leaving school and has recently been promoted, after about 10 years of work, to a vice presidency.

Axiom "I learned something from raising that boy," he said. "And what I learned was this—don't try to give your children money—give them yourself."

He went on to say that every morning of his life he had taken the boy to school and been with him for that long. He said that he made it a point to try to give himself to the boy a part of every evening when he was home and much of the time each Sunday.

"I got my reward," he said, "when I saw my own boy, with no word or suggestion from me, start taking his own boy to school."

Others I had that tucked away in my mind, especially the phrase: "Don't try to give your child money, give him or her yourself"—when I met up with Miss Ira Jarrell and Paul West, Superintendents of Atlanta and Fulton County's burgeoning school systems. Both are veterans in school work.

"What do children expect of their parents?" I asked.

Both answered almost simultaneously:

"Attention and understanding."

They confirmed the conversation I'd had at dinner—namely, that you can't buy affection with money, you can't "buy" a child into becoming a good boy or girl, and you can't fix it all up by leaving enough income in a will or an insurance policy. The job has to be a personal one. Parents have got to give themselves to their children.

Money, convertibles with the tops down—all these won't produce any result unless the parent supplies the necessary ingredient of self.

Parents Miss Jarrell laid down another axiom which I believe. "Children," she said, "are almost always better than parents."

Continuing, she said: "Children are smart. You can't fool them. They know what their parents don't want them to do. But they see parents doing, and overdoing, the very things the parents don't want their children to do. Parents between 40 and 50, or in that general age level, usually are the worst. They can't make up all that sort of thing with gifts."

We talked about sororities in high school, which are actually meaningless, and which cause more sorrow than joy.

Change "The evil of sororities could be stopped overnight," she said, "if the mothers would do it. But too many mothers push their daughters and sons into them. They like to tell the neighbors about their daughter having a breakfast at some place which they consider a step up the social prestige ladder. This type mother allows the daughter to see what the mother considers to be the true values of life. Many other mothers, who know how silly the sororities are, unwillingly allow their daughters to join because they fear the psychological effect of keeping them out.

"Mothers and fathers ought to spend more time with their children. They need not overdo this any more than they should overdo discipline. It really takes little time."

I thought of a sensational trial going on in which a young woman and a young man have been brought into court as witnesses in a case involving their parents.

The testimony in court is one of drinking, charges of infidelity and of immoral conduct.

It isn't pleasant to consider what the two young persons have been experiencing for years, nor what their thoughts must have been.

Admittedly, it is a struggle and a problem. But I can't get out of my head how sound the statement seems: "Don't try to give your children money—give them yourself."

JOHN WHEELER

How To Win A Jackpot

You may have to hurry, but here are some tips on how to beat the giveaway broadcasting programs. The reason for the haste is because the Federal Communications Commission has just thrown a large monkey wrench into the microphone by its order to discontinue these by Oct. 1, but three companies have come up with all the legal weapons—writ of certiorari, mandamus, habeas corpus, corpus deliciti, etc.—to keep suckers close to their telephones.

Statistics show hospitals have not been treating any cauliflower ears due to calls from "Stop the Music," although, of course, there are the normal number of afflicted housewives who break out with telephone needles as soon as their husbands leave home. These hints are the result of a talk with our lawer, Christopher Lorenzen, a reputable mouthpiece, who agreed to represent me if I wanted to start a suit.

Lawyer First he recommends hiring a lawyer on a contingent basis, which means you only pay if you collect. The FCC claims the whole racket is a lottery, which makes it illegal, so the thing to do is to sue for damages on the grounds you have spent six weeks waiting for the telephone to ring, and you can calculate your time at the new minimum wage scale of 75 cents an hour. Figure out how many hours you may have lost that could have been spent in other gainful occupations, such as playing canasta with your husband, and then give them both barrels, claiming lottery, petty larceny and any other injustices your lawyer can think of, being sure to put in somewhere "irrelevant, incompetent, and immaterial," which makes it all legal. If you collect anything, write a letter to this reporter, care of the newspaper you are reading.

Now we come to the remote contingency you may actually be called, although the statistics show there is a better chance you will be asked by a Gallup polltaker who you think will be the next President. Of course, you don't know the name of the mystery tune unless you saw it published in some newspaper and wrote it down. Even the master of ceremonies has to have it in electric lights on his reading desk so he won't forget it.

Witness When you get the call, have your lawyer handy and put him on the extension so as to have a qualified witness. Then after the announcer shoots off his mouth to show how smart he is and finally asks you the name of the tune which will win the $50,000 jackpot, say you are deaf and ask him to play the music over again longer and louder. This gives you time. Finally, hand him some double talk, such as—

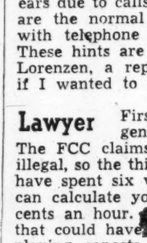

"Moonshune and moroses."

"I don't understand you!" he shouts.

Next claim besides being deaf, you are tonguetied and have a harelip. There you've got him. Before he hangs up, holler clearly and distinctly:

"I gave you the right answer and will sue you for breach of contract, lottery, and habeas corpus if I don't get the prize."

Have your lawyer start action right away. By the time the case comes to trial, you will know the name of the tune anyway. If there are enough suits, the programs will disappear without the benefit of FCC, and everybody can go back to listening to the radio for entertainment and buy deep freezers and phonographs in the stores.

Sears Started a Revolution

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil—An attempt at revolution is currently under way in Brazil. Beachheads have been established at Rio and Sao Paulo under the capable supervision of that veteran campaigner, Gen. Walter H. Frank. But the undertaking, known as Sears, Roebuck, SA, is not a military operation but a merchandising one.

To comprehend the daring of the campaign, one must understand something of the tradition-bound nature of Brazilian retailing. Despite the fact that it is a city of two million people, there was not in the whole of Rio three months ago anything approximating a department store. And while Sao Paulo, also a city of nearly two million, had a British-operated department store of sorts, it was surpassed in size and variety of merchandise by at least five or six Atlanta establishments.

The answer lay, at least theoretically, not with any backwardness or lack of ingenuity on the part of Brazilian retailers, but rather with the European buying habits of their customers. They, according to tradition, prefer to buy in small, one- to six-clerk shops, highly specialized, where one is known and catered to, usually by the manager himself. Not only has this resulted in the specialization of merchandising to an almost ridiculous degree—for instance a woman wishing to make a dress had to buy the pattern at one shop, the material at another, the thread at a third, buttons at a fourth, and so on, ad exhaustion—but also it has tended to increase the already unconscionable prices which Brazilian retailers make no bones about charging.

All of South America, it must be explained, holds to the high unit profit theory, whether it be in manufacturing, wholesaling or retailing. Virtually every industry is based on limited production. The tragedy of South American industrial underdevelopment is that many of its plants are not producing at anywhere near capacity—or with anything like full employment—because their owners ask themselves: "Why should I wear out my machinery making ten thousand articles a day to sell for one cruzeiro profit apiece when I can make as much money producing one thousand to sell at a 10 cruzeiro profit each?"

In 1947, the last year for which figures are available, Brazilian industry averaged nearly 40 percent for profit and management expenses in contrast to 35 percent raw material and 15 percent labor costs. That same year, average NET profits, after taxes, were for industry 17 percent; for wholesalers, 33 percent; for retailers, 28 percent! Small wonder, therefore, that Brazilians pay eight to 10 dollars for shirts, 100 to 150 for suits, and 15 to 20 for the cheapest kind of shoes.

Into this apparently fertile market this year has come Sears, Roebuck with its big-volume, low-overhead policy. In the space of three months it opened, in Sao Paulo and Rio, spacious, everything-for-everybody stores exactly like the 600-odd it has operated so successfully in the States. The results were spectacular.

In Rio, 123,000 braved opening-day rains to fight for the 25 cruzeiro nylons (they were selling for 40 elsewhere); the U. S.-type, made-in-Sao Paulo toilet paper (half the price charged by neighborhood Armazens; the 1,000 electric refrigerators (30 percent less than high-profit importers were charging).

The escalators, a rarity in Rio, carried 80,030 frightened people during the day, as many as 16,000 an hour at the height of the rush. The store did $550,000 in business the first day and 20,000 people were standing patiently in line outside at closing time. The second day—without the ice boxes, which were snapped up in a couple of hours the first—Sears did $200,000 and had a traffic count of 70,000.

Meanwhile, even Sears' competitors admit its impact on Brazilian retailing has been tremendous. For the first time, other Brazilian stores are taking page ads in Rio and Sao Paulo newspapers. Moreover, and this is really a concession, they are advertising PRICES. Some of the shops which were selling nylons for 40 cruzeiros, before the advent of Sears are now advertising them at 24, less than the Sears price. Taking a lead from Sears, other Rio stores for the first time are going in for American-type window displays; many are adding trucks to compete with Sears' by Brazilian standards unbelievably fast delivery system. Some are even reported to be considering the ultimate in concessions . . . to allow customers to exchange, or possibly even to return merchandise.

It will probably still be a long time before Brazilian retailing approaches U. S. standards. But it is significant that the bulk of the resistance to date seems to be coming from manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers who have made the high profits . . . and not from the customers who have paid them.

Fear of God

Editor Constitution: In considering the article of Mrs. Walter Westofer relative to fearing God, may I quote three passages from God's Holy Word, although I could give many, many more. "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." What is widom but applied knowledge and understanding?

"Fear God and keep His commandments; for this is the whole duty of man." The violation of any of God's laws, whether physical, moral or spiritual, reaps its own sowing: for our Maker is not an arbitrary law-giver, but His commandments when obeyed bring only good to His creation.

"The fear of the Lord is clean, enduring forever." We cannot condemn it; neither can we be clean in our heavenly Father's sight without a reverential fear and regard for His commandments.

Relative to Mr. Henry Crouch's article, "Common-Law Marriage," did not our Savior with His presence and miracle at the marriage feast in Cana of Galilee put His sanction upon public marriage vows with the inference that His followers would consider the wedding ceremony seals a sacred bond?

Change

Editor Constitution: Truly, times, people do change and have changed, but thanks be to God, His word never changes. Jesus, the same yesterday, today and forever. Jesus also said the time would come when they would have a form of godliness, but deny the power of God. That is the reason people are not emotional as in former years. The church has become a form of the early church. We find the early church in Acts, II chapter, that those people were so emotional that the mockers accused them of being drunk on new wine. And if Mr. E. C. Wilson would get the same Holy Ghost that those people received and preach it to his congregation, he and they would act emotional also. That same Holy Ghost is in the world today, as then. It has never changed and never will, although some people who are too proud to let God have His way in their lives try to do away with it.

Telegraph Operator

Editor Constitution: Anent Harold Martin's wonderment as to why telegraph operators are exempt from jury duty, here is the answer:

In years gone by the man in the telegraph office and the railroad agent, sometimes one and the same, was the only contact with the outside world for thousands of small towns and villages.

Judges and other court officials frequently forced the telegraph operator to take jury duty or go to jail and close up the telegraph office, which left no one to handle telegrams or dispatch trains. Frequently towns were isolated two or three days until a relief operator could get there, when the operator was on a locked jury.

The situation became so bad that the law had to be changed to overcome this condition. Thought you might be interested in knowing this.

A Few Gleanings From the Gridiron

The Saturday Sports Serenade:

Pausing for a breathing spell on a whirlwind dash around Southeastern Conference football camps: . . . Cliff Van Meter, the big Oklahoman who was regarded as such a great halfback prospect, has rejoined the Tulane squad after being floored by a broken leg last season. . . . You can add the name of Johnny Vaught to the list of coaches who think the SEC race this Fall is going to be one of those things. . . . "There may not be a real outstanding team," he says, "but there are more good ones than ever before . . . Why, any of them might beat any of the others and I'm making no exceptions." . . . Butch Avinger, at 210 pounds, looks like Alabama's best blocking back since Riley Smith. . . . Doug Lockridge, a center, is the ninth successive lineman to captain the Crimson Tide. . . . Bubber Nesbit, in 1936, was the last backfield man to be accorded the honor. . . . Billy Cadenhead seems to be ready to challenge such people as Charlie Hunsinger and Eddie Price as the league's best runner. . . .

'Flying Fireplug' Slick Morton has been trying to install the T-formation at Mississippi State since practice started Sept. 1, and he didn't start setting up a defense for Tennessee until a day or two ago. . . . Slick developed Bobby Thomason, a kid from Leeds, Ala., into one of the nation's outstanding T-formation quarterbacks, and he figures his present man at the job, Don Robinson, would be as good as Thomason if he had the chance. . . . However, Don is a senior and played the last two seasons as third-string tailback. . . . They call Ole Miss' formation the "split-T" but it more nearly resembles the normal T. . . . It isn't likely any team in the conference has better backfield prospects than LSU. . . . One of Gus Tinsley's most outstanding sophomores is Billy West, termed the "Flying Fireplug" because of his sturdy 5' 8", 200-pound frame. . . . He plays fullback. . . . The Tigers lost Al Heroman, a classy runner, because of a knee injury suffered while he was playing, of all things, softball. . . .

Criticism Several citizens have written to complain we didn't give Harry Gilmer his just deserts in the Cardinal-Redskin exhibition game at Birmingham the other night. . . . We had no desire to take anything away from the former Alabama star, but rather to explain he doesn't yet belong in the same category as a T-formation quarterback as a couple of other fellows on the same field, Sammy Baugh and Paul Christman. . . . This doesn't mean Harry won't eventually be as good, but it will come only after experience. . . . This opinion isn't solely mine. . . . The Alabama football coaches saw the game and hold the same belief. . . . Incidentally, Red Drew remarked after it was over, "Trippi is the Cardinal offense . . . without his presence just to worry the opposition, it wouldn't look nearly so good." . . . Among candidates for Auburn's football team is a fellow named Frank Garrison, a junior transfer from Oklahoma. . . . He was Gil Stephenson's understudy on the Army Plebe team. . . . Rival coaches are so worried about Ole Miss, they flocked in droves to the Rebels' game with Memphis State last night. . . .

Dapper Departs Zippy Morocco, the twinkle-toed halfback from Youngstown, is being groomed by Wally Butts as a kickoff and punt return specialist. . . . The word from Nashville is Bill Edwards is adhering to professional style coaching, even to having separate teams for punts and kickoffs. . . . Cliff Dapper left yesterday for his California home. . . . He and his wife, Stanna, will take it easy visiting friends on the long journey. . . . They are expecting their first child in December. . . . There has been no announcement as to whether he will return as manager of the Crackers next season. . . . Folks down in New Orleans are already getting set for Tulane's revenge victory over Georgia Tech on Oct. 1. . . . They figure the Wave should have won last year. . . . Despite all the ballyhoo, Henry Frnka is taking it calmly and putting his club through some of the hardest workouts we've seen. . . . Norman Cooper, LSU line coach who held the same job under J. V. Sikes at Kansas last year, considers the former Georgia coach one of the best in the business. . . . "He just outcoached a lot of 'em last year," Cooper remarked.

Albany Slips by Grady In Second Half, 14 to 0

By BOB CHRISTIAN

Except for two plays, an underdog Grady High School eleven played even-stephen with Albany, rated as one of South Georgia's powerhouses, last night before 5,000 fans at Grady Stadium, but finally fell, 14-0, to the South Georgians.

After a scoreless first-half, Albany's quarterback Arthur Dursheimer heaved a 41-yard pass from the Grady 44 to End Wynn Strickland late in the third quarter.. The play carried to the three from where Pete Cox busted over for the first score. The Indians had acquired the ball on their own 40 when George Beggs recovered Doug Tanner's fumble.

In the fourth period, the Indians struck pay dirt again when little Frankie McHann, the man of the night, raced 66 yards with Keith Comer's punt. McHann lunged forward to catch the ball on his 34. He faked beautifully at the 45, hurdled an opponent at the midfield stripe before picking up two blockers and sailing into six-point territory for what easily was the night's most outstanding play. Cox added both extra points from placement and that was the ball game, since the final score tells the tale in most instances.

In this case, however, the scoring doesn't tell the full story. That's only where the Indians held the advantage over the vastly improved Knights, who won but two of 10 games last Fall.

The Knights held the statistical edge for their great first-half stand. A threatening aerial game with Tanner completing five out of six passes for 69 yards kept the Indians in check. The line play was bruising and for awhile it seemed that an upset might be in the making but the 41-yard third-quarter pass play and McHann's brilliant run made the difference.

Although Grady held the edge on paper, the Knights were never able to score. They threatened seriously, however, pushing to two in the first minute of the second quarter and later within inches of the goal but they didn't have the punch to get it over. The second drive was halted when Jid Thompson fumbled short of the goal line and McHann recovered in the end zone.

Albany opened the game like a house afire. They took the kickoff and began a drive on their own 32 and went to the eight before the Knights could get their machines cranked for a goal line stand. After that, however, the Knights that grabbed the limelight and put on a great show against the favored South Georgians.

Grady continued its dope-upsetting play after the Indians added their only touchdowns. With only three minutes to play, the Knights were at the Albany 16.

Grady gained 142 yards rushing to 79 for the Indians and rolled up 13 first downs to 11 but that isn't figured in the scoring.

Monticello Rolls Over Sparta, 13 to 6

MONTICELLO — The Purple Hurricane of Monticello roared hard enough here last night to defeat visiting Sparta, 13-6. The Monticello line was impregnable for three quarters, finally yielding a touchdown in the final stanza.

Carl Jordan scored first for the Purples when he recovered a fumble over the Sparta goal line. The home team scored again in the final period when Walter Brannon circled end for 15 yards. Tom Westbury made the extra point on an end run.

FATHER, COACH OF JACKSON, BEATS EATONTON TEAM SON PLAYS FOR

EATONTON—Father bested son here last night as Jackson High defeated Eatonton, 12-6.

Hunter Strickland is the head coach at Jackson, while his son, Bobby, is one of the stars of the Eatonton team. Mrs. Strickland, the wife-mother of the pair, compromised by sitting in the end zone.

Jackson capitalized on eight Blue Devil fumbles to gain the victory. Collins raced 15 yards to give the visitors a 6-0 lead in the first quarter, and in the second, Couch passed to O'Neil for 22 yards and another score.

Eatonton's lone score came with only three minutes left to play. Brown passed to Ridley to set it up, and Billy Bozeman plunged over.

SANFORD STADIUM, Athens—Georgia's Southeastern Conference champion Bulldogs, for many years one of the country's leading exponents of the forward pass, had to fall back on a running attack that was murderous at times to beat little Furman University in the opening football game of the season here last night, 25-0.

The Bulldogs, starting their eleventh year under the guidance of Wallace Butts, were not particularly impressive but neither were they altogether disappointing.

They went about beating Furman in a methodical manner, scoring a touchdown in every quarter by playing good, hard, but unspectacular football.

They went 66, 51, and 61 yards for their first three touchdowns, scored along the ground, and came up with the most spectacular play of the game in the final minutes to get their last one on a 19-yard pass from freshman quarterback Mal Cook to Bob Walston, last season's leading pass receiver in the conference.

Patsy Rocco made the score possible. He stopped Furman's second deepest penetration into Georgia territory—to the 44-yard line—by intercepting one of Captain George Pruitt's passes at the Bulldog 21 and hauling it all the way over the goal line.

It was a great run with the Bulldog blockers mowing Furman defenders down just as effectively as a grass cutter in an uncultivated field. Only trouble was, an official ruled one of the blockers got his man from the rear and the penalty, from the 14-yard line, moved the Bulldogs back to Furman's 29.

A pass from Cook to Jack McHugh and two running plays moved the ball to the 19, and with thirty seconds left to play, Cook hit Walston in the end zone for a touchdown.

The Bulldogs, usually letter perfect in extra point kicking, could cash in only one time in four chances. John Tillitski kicked it after the second touchdown.

There was little action for ten minutes, but the Bulldogs started to roll then after getting a kick by Paul Stombaugh at their own 34-yard line.

John Tillitski charged around left end for 18 yards, to the Furman 48, the first time Georgia had been in the Hurricane's territory. Billy Mixon then slashed off tackle and raced all the way to the 14 before being hauled down.

"Breezy" Reid, the best running back the Bulldogs have, could get only a yard at center but Tillitski picked up four to move the ball to the nine. Reid then came racing around his own left end and outran two Furman line backers to pay dirt. Wayne Haskins missed the extra point and Georgia had a 6 to 0 lead at the quarter.

The Bulldogs upped their margin midways the second period.

Starting from their 49, where Eli Maricich had ran back with a punt that he took on his own 29, they went for a touchdown in five plays.

Big George (Bullet) Ford got into the game for the first time and celebrated by circling right end for 26 yards. Reid rammed the middle for 11 more and after McHugh had picked up five in two tries, Reid employed the same play which he scored first to race into the end zone.

It was a six-yard dash around left end, but it never would have been successful if Walston hadn't come up at the right time to block out two would-be tacklers on the four.

A holding penalty kept the Bulldogs from scoring the first time they got the ball in the third period, Furman finally taking over on its 20, but the red-shirted Georgians couldn't be denied when they got hold of the pigskin the second time.

From their own 39, they rolled uninterrupted to the goal. Bifly Mixon got 15, Tillitski two and then eight more for a first down at the Furman 36. Ford circled right end to the 31, then added another at the middle. Mixon raced for a first down at the 26 and Ray Prosperi, on a quarterback sneak, added three.

Mixon came around left end and should have scored. He fell under his own power at the third and in two plays Prosperi went over.

Rocco's interception and the Cook-to-Walston pass took care of the fourth marker.

The game was so routine and so completely dominated by Georgia that even the expulsion of Georgia's Fred McManus, for illegally using his hands—it used to be called slugging—in the fourth quarter failed to stir up the crowd of about 15,000 who turned out.

McManus was ordered out but the Bulldogs didn't get a penalty for Furman's backfield had been called in motion on the same play and one penalty offsets another.

Coach Butts, never satisfied with anything less than perfection, said his team lacked co-ordination and was ragged throughout.

"Bodine, as usual, played a good game. So did Reid, Tillitski, Gene Chandler and Mike Merola," Coach Butts said.

Merola and Chandler were used as defensive ends.

The Bulldogs came out of the game with several minor injuries and one of a major nature. Athens' Ed Greenway sustained a bad hip bruise and will be out of action for a week or ten days, Coach Butts revealed after the game.

The Bulldogs had a big margin in statistics. They had 16 first downs to eight for Furman, gained 288 yards rushing to 122 and 87 on passes to 21 for the Hurricane.

Only six passes were completed out of 21 tried.

Stombaugh, the nation's fourth best kicker last year, turned in another great perfermance. He was called on seven times and averaged 45.7 yards per try.

N. Fulton Blasts Rossville, 25-6

By JESSE BRADSHAW

North Fulton opened its 1949 grid season with a well-earned Region 4AA victory over a determined Rossville eleven last night at North Fulton, 25-6.

Leading the charge for the Buckhead eleven was Gordon Malloy, who broke loose in the second quarter and scampered 56 yards for the first tally. Mitchell's try for the extra point was wide and North Fulton led 6-0.

North Fulton drove 80 yards just before the half ended only to lose the ball on a fumble by Emory Jenks at the 2-yard marker. Jim Johnson recovered for Rossville but the time ran out before another play could be run.

North Fulton came back strong in the second half to score three touchdowns, two in the third and the last in the final quarter.

Malloy took Norman Beagles' second half kick off on his 16 and behind beautiful down field blocking went the remaining 84 yards for the second score. Again Mitchell's kick went wide and North Fulton led 12-0.

Rossville, not to be outdone, took North Fulton's kick off at the 17 and went to the North Fulton one. Jim Johnson was carrying the pigskin. Cliff Walker scored o. the next play on a quarterback sneak. Dave McClain's buck into the line for the extra point was no good. North Fulton now lead 12-6 early in the third period.

Late in the third period North Fulton took Madaris's kick on their own 41 and in four plays went over for the touchdown. Malloy picked up two around right end, and Emory Jenks went for 27 more around right end to put the ball at the Rossville 30. Malloy again skirted end for nine more and Jenks went over left guard for the remaining 21 yards. This time for the extra point Malloy went around end to make it 19-6.

With subs playing the final quarter the Buckhead lads hit pay dirt again on a 43 yard drive with Charles Grant going over from the 17. Mitchell's kick was low and North Fulton led 25-6.

Standouts for the North Fulton eleven were Gordon Malloy and Emory Jenks. These two speed merchants spelled defeat for Rossville. The entire line played a stellar game.

For Rossville it was Jim Johnson and Cliff Walker in the backfield. Melvin Madaris was the outstanding linesman.

College Park Falls Before Marietta, 14-6

MARIETTA—Two steady drives that College Park could not stop carried the Marietta Blue Devils to a 14-6 victory here last night. On he other hand, Marietta had its hands full keeping Cedric Couch contained, but the fleet Ram back engineered one scoring drive that could not be denied.

Bill Carrington flipped a pass to Buddy Jones for 32 yards to the Ram 12 late in the second quarter to set up the first touchdown. Charles Edge drove to the five and then after two line plays that put the ball on the one-foot line, Carrington went over on a quarterback sneak. Edge then made the point on an end-around play.

Marietta got its second touchdown drive going in the third from College Park 45. Morris got 12 yards and then two gains by Red Ramsey and Sam Hensley got a first down on the 30. Frank Heard then got 15 yards and two plays later went the final 14 yards or the touchdown. Hensley kicked the point.

Taking the kickoff, the Rams drove 74 yards for a touchdown in the fourth period with Couch punching through for gain after gain. Jerry Bell passed to Don Vansant for 21 yards to the Marietta 12 to put the Rams right near home. A penalty shortly after shoved Marietta back to its two-yard line and James Alexander scored on a pitch-off from Bell.

Tackle Bill Young stood out in the line for Marietta. Fullback Hensley contributed two great kicks, both averaging 50 yards. One died on the nine-yard line, the other on the 12.

Charles Freeman, a guard, and Ronald Perdue, tackle, were outstanding in the Ram line.

Cedartown Bulldogs Edge Cartersville Eleven, 19-13

By MARK WAITES
Constitution Sports Correspondent

CEDARTOWN—Jim Luck's Cedartown Bulldogs scored what may be termed a mild upset here last night when they trimmed a heavier Cartersville Purple Hurricane eleven, 19-13, before an overflow crowd of 3,500 howling fans.

Although outweighed about 20 pounds to the man, the Bulldogs completely wrecked the visitors hopes of victory by rushing over all nineteen of their points in a big second quarter splurge.

Charlie Earnest, easily one of the best backs in Region 3-A, scored two of the touchdowns, while Kermit Perry, an end, accounted for the other after taking a pass from quarterback, Cecil Hayes and romping 65 yards.

Cartersville scored its first touchdown in the initial quarter when Hurricane End Ross Shoemaker recovered a Cedartown fumble on the first play from scrimmage on the Cedartown 26. Lamar Leachman and Slick Tatum carted the leather down to the four from where Leachman rammed over the TD. Leachman also added the extra point on a sweep around end.

The second Hurricane marker came in the second quarter when a series of runs by Leachman and Tatum carried 39 yards to the Cedartown. Here Pat Whitworth powered through the line for the score.

The prettiest play of the game was Earnest' second touchdown excursion. Taking the kickoff on his own 22 he eluded the entire Cartersville team to fly 78 yards for the score. A pass, Ray Carter to Reeves added the extra point, the only one Cedartown was able to score in three tries.

Brown Bounces Lanier, 19 to 7

By JESSE OUTLAR
Constitution Sports Writer

PORTER STADIUM, MACON—Brown's jarring Johnny Rebs traveled overhead and over Poets here last night to grind out a convincing 19-7 victory over Lanier's defending Double A champs.

A record Macon Prep crowd of 12,000 fans watched J. E. DeVaughn's slashing backs spot Lanier a one-point margin in the first half as both teams counted once and then come roaring back to score twice in the fourth quarter.

Brown went overland for its first score after five minutes of the first quarter with Cecil Trainer grabbing a 15-yard aerial. Thereafter the rugged Rebel line knocked 'em down and the backs romped over Poets. What was actually the winning tally came early in the fourth period on a 47-yard march with Bud Ballew traveling the last 10.

BROWN		LANIER
8	First Downs	2
189	Rushing	41
20	Passing	45
0	Penalties	11
40	Punting Average	36

And then Brannon galloped 71 yards on the longest jaunt of the night late in the fourth just to make the victory margin impressive.

It was the first time that an Atlanta eleven has stopped the haughty Poets since Brown turned the trick, 6-0, in 1947.

And this display of power put on by Brown here last night may indicate that Lanier's dynasty has ended. Brown could easily be the successor. At least this year.

Brown received the opening kickoff and Chuck Brannon romped 22 yards to the Brown 47. Then Johnny Hunsinger almost shook loose on a 19-yard dash, but was jarred with a bruising tackle and lost possession of the ball on the Lanier 34. Tackle Paul Hall recovered.

Pig Campbell, Brown guard, and his Rebel mates said no and Joe Davis booted to Wayne Clyburn who returned to the Brown 27.

Brown found the going tough and Quarterback Pepper Rodgers told Hunsinger to quick kick. He did and when safety man William Caldwell hesitated after touching the rolling ball on the Lanier 15, alert Buddy Young grabbed it for the Rebs.

Brannon tried the middle but couldn't get an inch. So Rodgers flipped one to Right End Cecil Trainer who went over but fumbled and then fell on the six points. Rodgers' kick failed.

Lanier took the ensuing kick off, but couldn't click and Davis tossed one to Clyburn who was knocked down on the Brown 42.

This time the Poets got a break as Clyburn fumbled and Guard Ralph Torrance recovered on the Brown 39. Little Bayne Mallary went to the Rebel 35. Here Tom Stuart sailed one and Joe Davis took it for 24 on the Brown 11. Davis lost four as the quarter ended.

It wasn't long after the second started, for Stuart, after going back to midfield, fired a bullet to Whitten who was halted on the 15. Mallary danced to the 10. And then Stuart found Davis in the clear on the left side with a touchdown toss. Davis calmly booted the point and Lanier led, 7-6. That's the way it was at the half. A determined Brown squad came back for the third period, determined to erase that one point deficit and they did.

Wayne Clyburn, Bud Ballew and Brannon started hammering from their own 30 early in the quarter and drove down to the Poet 31 before Trainer bobbled it after taking a 17-yard pass and Torrance recovered again.

That stiff Brown defense just wouldn't yield and Davis got off a 50-yard beauty, which Clyburn hauled back 26 yards to the Poet 37. Ballew added five down the middle as the quarter ended.

But the Rebs were just gaining momentum. Brannon bucked for 12 and Ballew circled end to the Poet 15. Two slams by Chuck reached the ten and Ballew bulldozed off tackle for the points. Rodgers' first extra-point try was blocked. But an off-side penalty gave him another chance. Again the Poets came through so it stood 12-7.

Then with less than two minutes remaining Brown cracked up again, Brannon slipped off his own right guard and sailed 71 yards to glory. Rodgers kicked the point, but Brown didn't need it this time.

A PLAY THAT HELPED SMITHIES ROLL ON—Bobby Odum (21), Smith scatback, turns end for seven yards on this play as Center Leon Cunningham (48) charges around to take out Columbus Tackle Frank Smith (99). The gallop was the second of 12 plays which took Cecil Moon's team 65 yards to their first touchdown in the first quarter at Cheney Stadium where Columbus fell, 27-0, last night.

Smith Wins Inaugural In W. O. Cheney Stadium

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Rough Richard Bonner, an unheralded 155-pound lad with swivel hips and a slingshot for an arm, sparkled like a fist full of diamonds in a mid-day sun as he sparked a rugged, hell-for-leather Smith High eleven to a 27-0 triumph over Columbus High in the inaugural game for W. O. Cheney Stadium last night before 5,000 happy, partisan onlookers.

Coach Cecil Moon's Smithies, minus irreplaceable Conrad Moon this outing, had that new look as they barged to a smashing 21-0 halftime lead and coasted through the final two stanzas to cop their opener going away. Bonner was the key man in the Blacksmith's sparkling T-formation attack that has replaced the old single wing that featured the plunging of Big Conrad.

It was near the end of the first quarter that Bonner first showed his class and heels to Dickie Butler's Columbusites, who had carried the fight to the Smithies up to that time.

Bonner set a 65-yard drive in motion at this point with a 12-yard sneak through center. That was the Smithies initial first down of the game. Three more times on the drive he sneaked through the middle for five, three and five yards to account for first downs with Bobby Odum and Lawrence Warren smashing for the rest of the yardage to the Columbus 14.

It was here that Bonner lofted a soft pass into the left flat. Bobby Odum never slackened his pace as he looked back, made a one-handed grab and legged it over the goal. David Helf booted the first of his three consecutive extra points for the night and Smith was in front, 7-0.

On the third play after the ensuing kickoff, Warren snatched an aerial propelled by Gary Kelley, of Columbus, from the air, bolted about 10 yards downfield and, as he was about to be tackled, lateralled to Bonner. Rough Richard picked his way through the broken field like a speeding ambulance threading heavy traffic as he sped to a second touchdown which covered 35 yards from the point of interception. Helf's conversion stepped up the count to 14-0.

On the first play of the second quarter, Bobby Odum, whose running was a big highlight of the fray, sizzled around end and went 57 yards across the double stripes, but the play was called back and Smith penalized for holding.

The second stanza was on its last feeble legs when Martin Allen, a sub Smithie back, latched onto a desperation flip in the flat by Charlie McDaniel, Columbus fullback, and a convoy of blockers escorted him 34 yards to a third touchdown. After Helf's toe made it 20-0 there was only time for four more plays before intermission.

Neither team threatened in the third period as Smith poured reserves into the milling, but late in the fourth go-round Bonner, who had been out since the middle of the second period with an injury, came back in and promptly collaborated with Warren on a six-pointer that wrapped it up for good. Bobby Catlin, Warren and Odum had bulled their way 23 yards overland before Bonner hit Warren in the right flat, and the speedster poured on the coal as he chalk-walked the sideline for 53 yards and the score.

The all-round brilliance of Bonner and the exceptional running of Warren and Bobby Odum made the Smithies look like a team to be reckoned with in the City League chase.

Knox Culpepper, one of the hardest running backs in Georgia, gave the Blacksmiths plenty of trouble in the early stages and, truth to tell, the Imps appeared to be a pretty fair ball club. A pass from Bo Waite to End Joe Hall carried the invaders 45 yards to one fourth quarter touchdown, but it was called back for an offsides penalty. Charlie McDaniel's fine punting was another Columbus highlight.

The Smithie forewall, sparkled by the savage tackling of Leon Cunningham, Captain Harry Lovell, Dave (Pig) Crane, Billy Patton and Walter Turner, was worthy of praise for its fierceness and smartness on defense.

In fact, the only phase of the game of football in which the Smithies were sloppy last night was that of handling punts. They toyed with the bounding ball repeatedly when it might have caused them great trouble. Put the 1949 Smithies down as a team that will be hard to beat any and every week.

Black Menace Takes Don McIntyre's Belt

The Black Menace, a masked matman, captured the Southern heavyweight wrestling belt from Don McIntyre last night at the City auditorium when McIntyre fell through the ropes on his head and was K.O.ed.

McIntyre had held the belt, which he won from Tom Mahoney, for the past six weeks.

In the team tag match, Nick Carter and Johnny Long decisioned Babe Zaharias and Tom Mahoney in seventeen minutes.

Lafayette Rips Austell, 13 to 8

LAFAYETTE — Lafayette's Ramblers roared back in the second half to overcome an 8-point deficit and defeat the Austell Wildcats, 13-8 here last night before 2,000 fans.

The visitors scored all their points in the first period. After a sustained drive, Halfback Billy Cato raced around end for 10 yards and a touchdown. Austell scored a safety a few minutes later when the entire Wildcat line broke through.

Early in the third period Lafayette marched 65 yards for its first score. Toodie Hardeman and Billy Scott led the way with Richard Niles going over on a quarterback sneak from the 10. Bill Dobson booted the extra point.

Dobson set up the pay-off score in the final period with several passes to End Wally Skipper. Then he spun off right tackle for a 20-yard touchdown run.

Villa Rica Defeats Douglasville, 8 to 6

DOUGLASVILLE — A second quarter safety provided the eventual margin of victory here last night as the Villa Rica Wildcats edged the Douglasville Tigers, 8-6, in a Region 3-B football game.

Douglasville took the lead early in that period when Fred Winkle plunged over from the four-yard line, but a few moments later, Winkle was trapped in his end zone, giving the visitors two points.

Then, in the third quarter, Villa Rica drove to its touchdown with Hamrick covering the final three yards.

Winkle and Shaddix paced the Tiger attack in the game which featured the offensive.

MURPHY, DECATUR CLASH AT GRADY HERE TONIGHT

A weekend of hectic football action will come to a close tonight at 8 o'clock at Grady Stadium where Decatur's North Georgia Class A defending champions will engage Murphy's Class AA City League team.

The game will mark the debut of Max (Red) Ivey as head coach of the Murphy Eagles, who will be leaning heavily on the passing of Bob Wolff and the kicking of Jimmy Helms. The Redford brothers—Courts and David—give Charlie Waller's Bulldogs a double barreled passing attack and the game, rated a toss-up, may develop into one of the aerial shows of the season.

West Point Raps Tallapoosa, 59-0

WEST POINT—The Red Devils of West Point had too many guns for Tallapoosa here last night and the locals swept to a 59-0 victory.

Fob James and Buck Borders, who did the starring for the Devils, tallied three touchdowns each. James did his on the ground with 55, 30 and 10-yard runs. Borders caught two passes from Ray Anderson for a pair and made the other on the ground.

Other touchdown makers were Harold Straggins, Truitt Partridge and Bubber Spier with one each. Darnell Perry kicked five points after touchdowns.

Jackie Holcombe got loose for 60 yards for the most spectacular play for Tallapoosa and it was the game's longest run. It put Tallapoosa on the 10-yard line in the fourth period, the closest the visitors got. Otherwise, they were outplayed and didn't threaten.

Summerville Trips M'Henry

SUMMERVILLE —Summerville High's Indians, led by determined running of Joe Faye Dacus, ran up an easy 39 to 0 victory over McHenry High in a Region 3-B, battle here last night.

The hard-running fullback scored three of the Indians' touchdowns and added three extra points. His first T. D. was tallied on a one-yard plunge in the opening period. In the third he skipped 90 yards with a kickoff for a score and then wound up the night's scoring with a 45-yard T. D. gallop.

Ole Miss Wins

MEMPHIS— (AP) —The T-machine of Mississippi tuned up for a rugged Southeastern Conference schedule last night by mauling Memphis State's Tigers, 40-7, before 12,578 fans.

The Mississippians looked ragged and unimpressive at times even though they scored only three plays after the initial kickoff. Fumbles plagued them throughout the game.

West Fulton Rolls Over Hapeville

By JOHN TARBOX

West Fulton's Owls got back on the winning track last night at their own field by downing a fighting but outmanned Hapeville eleven, 19 to 0.

Led by Billy Ralston, Sonny Conn and Pete Scogin the Owls made Coach Jack Hogg's debut before the home folks a howling success. Ralston made two of his teams touchdowns on spectacular runs of 55 and 7 yards respectively. Conn contributed the other score on a punt return of 60 yards with Scogin and Ralston throwing the key blocks.

All the scoring was done in the first half with Conn scoring the first touchdown midway in the first quarter. After an exchange of kinks Hapeville was forced to punt from their own 21. Cotton Johnson got off a booming one but Conn gathered it in on his own 40 and was off to the races behind a corp of blockers. The key blocks were thrown by Ralston on the Hapeville 30 and Scogin on the Hapeville 15. Scogin kicked the point to make it West Fulton 7, Hapeville 0.

After taking Scogin's kickoff Hapeville was able to make one first down on the strength of a 9 yard plunge through center by Johnson. However, Tommy Farran lost nine at his right end and Johnson kicked from his 15 to the West Fulton 40. Conn returned 5 yards to his own 45. On the first play from scrimmage Ralston broke over his own right tackle, cut to the sidelines and then took off for pay dirt, going over unmolested. The try for point was no good making it West Fulton 13, Hapeville 0.

Ralston got his second and the Owls last touchdown near the end of the half. The Owls recovered a Hapeville fumble on the Hapeville 17. Conn picked up 11 and Ralston 4. The Owls then lost 5 for offside setting them on the Hapeville 7. Ralston plunged over his right tackle for the score. The try for point was no good making it West Fulton 19 Hapeville 0.

The second half was a see-saw affair with the Owls getting closest to pay dirt as Ralston once made it to the Hapeville 18 after a 15-yard run. An offside penalty and incomplete pass stopped this drive.

Ralston ran for a total of 132 yards while Conn piled up 42. For Hapeville Farrin and Johnson were the main ground gainers with 30 and 29 yards respectively.

Sherry Autry, 160-pound Blue Devil fullback, scored the first touchdown for the home crew on an 18-yard run in the opening quarter. Bobby Wynn, 150-pound halfback, scampered over from the nine for the other Manchester score in the final period.

Campbell averted a shutout by tallying seven points in the final quarter. Harper tossed an aerial which Jourgsen gathered in and stepped over the double stripe. The pass traveled 20 yards. Smith rushed for the point after.

Cards Win, Gain Game on Bums

The St. Louis Cardinals stretched their National League lead to two and a half games last night when they downed the hapless Boston Braves, 7-5, in St. Louis, as the Pittsburgh Pirates made the pennant hopes of the Brooklyn Dodgers look a little dimmer as they battered four Flatbush hurlers for 10 hits and a 9-2 win.

Three walks issued to Ralph Kiner helped with the Dodger downfall. Bill Werle went all the way for Pittsburgh, scattering seven hits equitably over the distance.

In a pitchers' duel, Kenny Raffensberger held Philadelphia to three hits in leading Cincinnati to a 2-to-1 victory over the third-place National League club. It was his sixteenth win against 15 losses. Ken Heintzelman was the losing pitcher. The game was played in one hour, 32 minutes.

Pinchhitter Mickey Owen singled with the bases filled and two out in the last of the tenth inning to drive across the winning run and give the Chicago Cubs a 5-4 victory over the New York Giants in the opener of a two-game series. The Cubs had rallied to score once in the last of the ninth and tie the score off Larry Jansen.

Phenix Central Rips Baker, 20-0

COLUMBUS—Gary Little raced for touchdowns of eight and 24 yards here last night to pace Central High, of Phenix, Ala., to a 20-0 victory over Baker Village before 8,000 prep fans.

The visitors went 73 yards in the opening period for their first score. Runs by Halfbacks Virgil Cook and Little moved the ball to the Baker 22 and then Quarterback Alton Connors passed to End Don Dixon for the score.

Midway in the second period the visitors scored again. Baker's Billy Farmer fumbled Connor's kick and Dixon recovered for Central on the Baker 25. Little moved it to the 18 and then Connors tossed to End Davis at the 8. Little smashed through the middle for the tally.

Central went 83 yards for the final touchdown which was climaxed when Little cut off tackle on a beautiful 24-yard gallop.

Fulton High Trounced By R. E. Lee

By ED TURNER

THOMASTON — The big, rugged line of R. E. Lee High's Rebel eleven throttled the running game of Fulton High's Red Birds here last night and the Lees romped away with an 18-0 victory before 3,000 spectators.

The Rebels scored in each of the first three periods and had another tally nullified by a penalty in the final quarter.

Allen Lee and Bud Duncan took the ball on quick opening plays to romp high, wide and handsome to the three TD's. Duncan raced across the double stripes in the first quarter from 33 yards out after Bethel Ingram had tossed a long aerial to Frank Trice. Lee took a short shovel pass from Ingram and stepped off two yards for the second touchdown to make the scoreboard read 12-0 at the end of the half.

Lee, taking the third period kickoff at his own 30, fell in behind perfect downfield blocking and romped 70 yards across the double stripes.

Delmas Whitten, who was sidelined most of the game with injuries, went into the game in the fourth period and galloped 65 yards to a touchdown, but a holding penalty nullified the score.

Fulton rallied to muster a single touchdown drive because of the formidability of the Lee line. The visitors attempted 12 passes, but completed only one. They never penetrated beyond the Lee 20-yard line.

Newnan Bows To LaGrange

By JOHN BROWN

NEWNAN—Johnny Dodd, Fred Cottles and Billy Hester paced Oliver Hunnicutt's LaGrange Grangers to an easy 32-0 victory over Newnan before an overflow crowd of 3,500 fans here last night.

The Grangers, runners-up for the Region 4-A crown last Fall, scored twice in each of the first two quarters and added a final tally in the fourth. Only in the third quarter, when Newnan's reserves were in the game, did the Tigers make a game of it.

Cottles set up the first touchdown in the opening period with a 25-yard run. Hester plunged over. A few minutes later, a poor Newnan punt was returned to the Tiger 17. From there, Hester and Cottles rammed it to the four, from where Dodd went over.

In the second quarter, a pass carried the Grangers to the Tiger 37. Dodd raced to the 22, and two plays later, carried it over from the 16. Nelson converted and it was 19-0. Later in that second period, an exchange of fumbles gave Newnan the ball at its 23. Stevens attempted to pass, but Capt. Cordell Maddox, LaGrange center, intercepted the ball and raced for the score. Again, Nelson converted.

The final Granger tally came in the fourth period with Radford Janney starting it by dashing 17 yards to the Tiger 27. From there, Dodd, Cottles and Hester took over, with Cottles finally scoring from the two.

Big Toe Thompson was outstanding for the outmanned Newnan eleven.

The contest, a Region 4-C affair, was the first of the season for both clubs.

Bobby Lee, sleek-running fullback, was the big star of the game for Trion. He collected three touchdowns, one on a 45-yard gallop in the final period. Other Trion markers were registered by Green, McGraw and Bohannon.

Byrne's 2-Hitter Tames Tigers; Sox Tan Browns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lefty Tommy Byrne spun a two-hitter for his fifteenth victory yesterday as the Yankees won the opener of a two-game series from Detroit, 4 to 1, at Yankee Stadium, and maintained their 2½-game lead over Boston in the American League. Bobby Brown knocked in three Yankee runs with a pair of doubles off Freddie Hutchinson.

Catcher Bob Swift of the Tigers scored the only run off Byrne when he singled in the third, reached third on two successive walks and came in on an outfield fly. A single by Hoot Evers in the ninth was the only other safety off the Yankee star, who racked up his fifth straight victory.

The victory marked the first time the Yanks had defeated Hutchinson. He was lifted for a pinchhitter, Dick Wakefield, who proved one of Byrne's six strikeout victims.

The defeat dropped Detroit eight games behind the leaders.

Junior Stephens clouted a pair of consecutive homers as Lefty Mel Parnell turned in his twenty-third pitching victory for the Boston Red Sox with a 12-4 decision over the St. Louis Browns at Fenway Park.

A five-run second inning carried the Chicago White Sox to a 6-3 victory and a split fo their twi-night doubleheader with the Philadelphia Atheltics. Dick Fowler tossed a twohitter to give the A's a 5-1 first game triumph.

Ray Scarborough held Cleveland to seven hits as Washington battered Mike Garcia and Satchel Paige for 12 hits and a 5-4 victory.

Eighth Army Eliminates Ft. Riley, 5-4

Special to The Constitution

FORT BENNING — The Eighth Army Chicks, representing the Far East Command, eked out a 5-4 win to eliminate Fort Riley, Kas., Fifth Army representatives, from the Army-wide baseball tournament here yesterday afternon.

The Chicks snagged an early lead, scoring one run in the first, and two in the second inning while keeping the Fifth men scoreless until the fourth frame when the Kansans chalked up one counter.

The Chicks marked up one more in the fifth, but the Fifth Army men retaliated with three in the sixth to knot the tally until the bottom of the ninth when Saunders crossed the plate for the winning run for the Chicks. Eighth Army Hurler Jim McMullen, and opposing Moundsman Bob Elliott, both southaws, started, but both were replaced in the sixth.

Stubbs, with a double for two trips, and Saunders, hitting three for five, led the FECOM batting, while Klink, Koerber and Hinman each chalked up two safeties each for the Fort Riley nine. Fourth Army's Fort Bliss nine eliminated Fort Benning's Doughboys last night, 2-1.

Pels, Bears Win Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New Orleans Pelicans turned the Southern Association Shaughnessy playoff topsy-turvy last night, outclassing the Nashville Vols 11-5 to win the third game of their series at New Orleans.

With Nashville now holding two wins, the series now must go at least five games.

"Mighty Mouse" Mel Rue was the man of the evening for the Pels, slamming two home runs over the left field fence on his first tw otrips to the plate and contributing a couple of sensational fielding plays that cut off potential Nashville runs.

Fireballing Johnny Klippstein pitched the Mobile Bears into a one-game lead over the Birmingham Barons at Mobile by winning 3-1.

The youthful righthander, who won 15 games during the regular season, gave up only five hits. He would have had a shutout but for his own wildness and a fielding miscue in the seventh inning.

Jayhawks, Frogs Meet In Feature

NEW YORK—(AP)—College football crowds into the national sports scene this weekend.

While the big Autumn show doesn't get rolling full furnace until next week, the rah rah boys will have some major games to enthuse over.

Highlight of this afternoon's play will be the Texas Christian-Kansas embroilment at Lawrence, Kan. After bowing to the Texans in last year's opener, 14-13, the Jayhawks reeled off seven consecutive triumphs before losing their final two games.

The Pacific Coast dominates the remainder of the afternoon card. Utah will play at Washington; Santa Clara at California; Utah State at Washington State, and San Jose State at Stanford. All are nonconference affairs.

Duquesne of Pittsburgh will go South and tangle with the Deacons from Wake Forest.

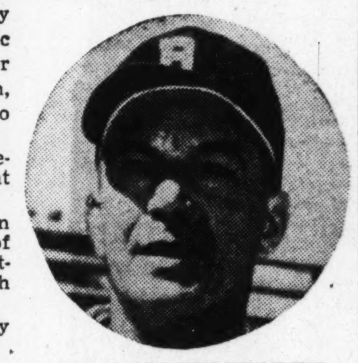

Two after-dark contests will send two Southern and Eastern elevens into the Southwest. William and Mary travels to Houston, while Villanova College of Philadelphia clashes with Texas A. & M.

UCLA, in its first game under Red Sanders, ex-Vanderbilt coach, was to play Oregon State last night and St. Mary's was to meet Oregon.

'NO HEADS WILL ROLL'

Southworth States Flatly He'll Boss '50 Braves

COLUMBUS, Ohio—(AP)—Billy Southworth, absent from public view since retirement as manager of the Boston Braves in midseason, said yesterday he would return to his old job next season.

BILLY SOUTHWORTH
Doc Says He'll Live

Southworth made the flat statement in his first public statement since he left Boston.

"Will you be back with Boston next year?" Opened a barrage of questions by about 20 sports writers, grouped around Southworth in a Columbus hotel.

"Yes, definitely," replied Billy without hesitation.

There never was a question about his returning as Braves manager, Southworth added.

"The doctor tells me I'm going to live," remarked Billy.

"I feel much better and the doctor has ordered me to stay outdoors. This isn't hard for me to take."

The absentee manager of the Braves, who turned over the job to Johnny Cooney, said he had been under a doctor's care since leaving Boston a month ago.

Southworth said "no heads would roll" on the Boston club after his return, despite reports of dissatisfaction which have been bandied about since his departure.

"We will try to improve the club, of course," Southworth said. "As to the players now on the club, I admire all of them. There is a durable fraternalism built up in winning a pennant, and the things those boys did in 1948 are not forgotten overnight."

Dallas Tigers Bump Carrollton High, 19-0

DALLAS, Ga.—Coach "Trigger" Thomason's Dallas Tigers racked up three touchdowns on power plays here last night to overpower Carrollton's gold and black clad legion, 19 to 0, before 3,000 hometown fans.

Bennett Morris racked up two tallies in the first and third periods to put the Tigers out front and Harold Clay raced six yards for the final marker. Morris stepped off eight and four yards, respectively, in his two trips across the double stripes.

Ga. Peach To Whiff Orange Blossoms; Did Spec Or Goat Kiss Grid Prospect?

Condensed from AP, UP, INS Wire Reports

Ty Cobb, baseball's famous Georgia Peach, will be married again in the next few days.

The 62-year-old baseball immortal will wed Mrs. Frances Cass, daughter of Dr. John F. Fairbairn, prominent specialist at Buffalo, N. Y. Cobb, who was divorced two years ago, is in Buffalo. It will be the third marriage for Mrs. Cass, who has two children. Mrs. Cass' daughter made the announcement yesterday.

After a quiet marriage, the couple will take a trip to Dr. Fairbairn's hunting lodge in Canada, then go to the World Series. Cobb is a native of Royston, Ga.

The once mighty Quantico Marine football team returns to collegiate competition this afternoon and is out to recapture its old position of national prominence. The Devildogs, who've been missing from the college picture for some 19 years, meet Virginia Tech at Alexander, Va. Their schedule this Fall is modest, but the Marines hope that it's only a starter. They are determined to once again rank with the best in the Nation.

From 1921 to 1930, Quantico piled up one of the best records in the country against high-class competition. During that period, the Devildog record was 74 victories, 13 losses and five ties. In '21 and '22 they were undefeated and in '23 they lost only two games.

An ex-Navy star, Maj. Hal Harwood, is the coach of the current eleven which carries a 25-game winning streak against service teams into the fray today.

GRID NOTES—Harvard is leaving it famous band at home when the football team goes to California to play Stanford next Saturday. A drive to raise $25,000 to pay expenses of the group fell short. . . . The smallest member of the Penn squad, 160-pound Bob Topchick, has been promoted to the first-string backfield. He's only five-feet, six-inches tall. . . . McMillan says Towns was the guilty party. Neither has explained what the kid did to deserve such punishment.

RING ROUND-UP—Tremendous interest is being shown in the Ezzard Charles-Pat Valentino 15-round heavyweight championship fight, to be held in San Francisco's Cow Palace, Oct. 14. Prices will range from $3 to $20, and although the fight may be only average, the interest runs high because many people on the coast have grown to middle age without ever having a chance to see a heavyweight title bout. The last championship out that way was 41 years ago when Jack Johnson stopped Stan Ketchell. . . . Jack Solomons returned to London with plans for a World Light-Heavyweight championship bout between Britain's titleholder, Freddie Mills, and Joey Maxim, of Cleveland. He said that the fight would probably be held in London, Nov. 15. . . . Rocky Graziano's next bout will probably send him against Rocky Castellani.

IN GENERAL — Bad weather prevented Hank Wyse, the former Chicago Cubs hurler, from appearing before the Harris County (Texas) grand jury yesterday. Wyse, now with the Shreveport club of the Texas League, was to have flown to Houston to testify against officers whom he charged kicked and beat him early last Sunday in the Houston jail. He also said he was cut by two prisoners. He was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated and driving without a license. . . . 19 fillies and mares meet today in the $50,000 added Beldame Handicap at Aqueduct. Calumet's Bewitch is the favorite. . . . Calumet, incidentally, is considering a split of Coaltown and Citation to head to contingents of the stable for the Winter season. KIELTY EDGES BAUER

Kirby Beaten By Porter, 3-1

By WHITNEY MARTIN

ARDMORE, Pa.—(AP)—Two players who never before got beyond the third-round yesterday climbed to the rarified air of the finals of the forty-ninth Women's National Golf Tournament as Mrs. Mark A. Porter, of Manoa, Pa., and Dot Kielty, of Long Beach, Cal., won over staunch opposition in their 18-hole matches at the Merion Golf Club.

Mrs. Porter, 25-year-old mother, who as Dot Germain, won the Western Amateur twice in a row, ruined the hope of Dorothy Kirby to become a finalist for the third time. She turned back the Atlantan, 3 and 1, and Miss Kielty eliminated 15-year-old Marlene Bauer, of Los Angeles, one-up.

Although the Mrs. Porter-Miss Kirby match was tight all the way, being decided by the Pennsylvanian's victory surge on the last four holes, it was the stirring battle put up by the little Bauer girl which provided the real thrills, and won the hearts of the sizeable gallery.

Apparently hopelessly out of the running at the end of nine holes when she was four down, the stoical youngster staged a spectacular comeback to cut the margin to one hole with a fine par 35 on the home nine. She scored 42-35—77 as Kielty tallied 37-39-76.

It was a pair of partial stymies which ruined whatever chance Miss Bauer had to at least square the match. On the fourteenth and sixteenth greens she found a clear path to the cup blocked by her opponent's ball.

Mrs. Porter and Miss Kirby waged a give and take battle in their match until the former pulled away for keeps on the fourteenth hole.

Mrs. Porter took a two-up lead on the first two holes as Miss Kirby three-putted the first and went from rough to rough on the second to wind up with a seven.

The Pennsylvanian made it three-up on the fifth as Miss Kirby was trapped on her wood second, but the lithe Atlantan then put together a string of four fours, the first two good for wins. On the sixth she sank an eight-foot putt to take the hole, and on the seventh she won as Mrs. Porter three-putted.

Mrs. Porter clung to her one-up advantage until the eleventh, when Miss Kirby squared the match with a 15-foot putt for a birdie three. The Atlanta girl then took the lead for the first time on the twelfth as her opponent flubbed a shot out of the grass fringing the green.

The lead lasted only one hole, however. Miss Kirby was trapped on her tee shot on the short thirteenth and played ante-over into another trap, finally conceding the hole.

Mrs. Porter went ahead on the fourteenth, taking the hole with a one over par five. Pars on the sixteenth and seventeenth clinched the victory for the Pennsylvania entrant. Miss Kirby went into a deep pit known as the quarry on the sixteenth and wound up with a six, and was trapped on her tee shot on the short seventeenth and overshot the green coming out.

Mrs. Porter and Miss Kielty will meet over the 36-hole route today to see which shall succeed Grace Lenczyk, eliminated in the first round, as national champion.

Jonesboro Rolls Over Hogansville

JONESBORO — The Jonesboro Cardinals rolled over the Hogansville eleven here last night, 48-6, scoring in every period.

Bill Dunford accounted for three touchdowns, going 60 yards for the second one of the game which came in the first period. Reese Sanders, who dashed 76 yards on the first play from scrimmage, tallied two. Jimmy Henry and Hoyt Scott racked up the others.

Hogansville's Allen scored his team's lone touchdown in the first period.

Roland Toney contributed heavily to the Jonesboro cause with some nifty passing. One pass to Roy Duffy went 40 yards to set up the third touchdown.

Score by periods:

Hogansville	6	0	0	0— 6

Gordon Lee Romps, 45-0

CHICAMAUGA — Gordon Lee's Trojans ran roughshod over Georgia School for the Deaf here last night, winning 45 to 0 in a Region 4-C contest.

Dan Peeler, flashy halfback, romped over for three touchdowns, while Charles Keith and Snooks O'Neil accounted for two each. The three extra points were added by O'Neil, Dink Fugate and Lee Autry.

Longest run of the game was by Peeler who romped 45 for the fifth touchdown early in the fourth quarter.

Charles Keeton and Bob Fowler, two of Gordon Lee's top performers were sidelined with injuries and got in for only one play. The Trojans cleaned the bench before the game was over, but still the score mounted.

Tackle Bill Payne and Guard James Smith were outstanding in the Trojan forward wall. Gentry was the best performer for the losers.

The game was Gordon Lee's second. The Trojans were tied 0-0 by Lakeview in the opener last week. This was the opening tilt for the Tigers from Cave Spring.

Hornets Overpower Colts for 3d Win

CHICAGO — (AP) — Scoring in every quarter, the Chicago Hornets outran and outpassed the Baltimore Colts to score a 35-7 All-America conference victory before 18,483 spectators in Soldier Field last night. It was the Hornets' third win in four conference starts and the Colts' fourth successive loss.

The Hornets drove 71 yards for a touchdown in the opening quarter, staged two 88-yard marches into scoring territory in the second quarter, passed to another touchdown in the third, and recovered a fumble to set the stage for a 27-yard scoring pass in the final period. Jim McCarthy kicked all five extra points.

The Baltimore touchdown came late in the second quarter when Y. A. title climaxed a 51-yard offense by tossing a 36-yard pass to Lamar Davis for six points. Rex Grossman booted the conversion.

Mrs. Hall Wins Maier & Berkele Handicap Meet

Mrs. William Hall, wife of the popular Adams Park Club professional, crashed through to her first tournament win yesterday at East Lake Country Club when she bested Mrs. W. S. Eakin, 7-6, in the finals of the AWGA-Maier & Berkle handicap tournament.

Mrs. Hall, who is also President of the Atlanta Women's Golf Association, shot good, consistent golf throughout the tournament to best a field which had proved troublesome for her in earlier tournaments.

Mrs. J. G. Wilburn defeated Mrs. T. B. Robertson, 3-2, to take the first flight trophy home. In the 18-hole losers' tournament, Mrs. Fred Bellinger won low gross honors and Mrs. L. H. Kelley grabbed the prize for low net.

Lavonia Rolls Over Toccoa High, 20-0

LAVONIA — Lavonia High opened the season with a 20-0 victory over Toccoa here Thursday night before 2,500 fans in a Region Four B game.

Halfback R. C. Price romped 45 yards for one touchdown and bucked over from the two for another to pace the winners. The score came on a short pass from Max Cowis to George Standridge.

Toccoa drove to the Lavonia goal line in the second half, but failed to muster a scoring punch.

Vandy Running Game Feared by Bobby Dodd

By GEORGE TISINGER

The reason Georgia Tech's linemen were getting some fatherly advice yesterday afternoon on Grant Field is that the brains at the Jacket institution have heard about the running attack of Vanderbilt's Commodores.

Every report out of Nashville, where the Commodores dwell, tells of the devastating running of their backfield forces. The Engineers know it's liable to be a long Winter. Hence—the work yesterday—though in light pads—was against an offensive team.

Word seeps down through the hills of three, no less, first string left halfbacks. They are, namely, Mac Robinson, Lee Nally and Bobby Berry.

It seems that this trio have been having one of those fights for the No. 1 job at that position against the Jackets. All are single wing veterans who went to school under Red Sanders. Now that Bill Edwards has them and they have the "T" formation, Nashville has been all agog over their private war.

Robinson was a wingback who has a Ziegler-like start and great drive. He is supposed to be one of the top runners Coach Edwards will throw against the Jackets here on the twenty-fourth.

Berry, one of the best broken field runners in the Southeastern Conference, probably will be broken loose against Bobby Dodd's men sometime during the afternoon of that opening Saturday. Experts have been quoted as saying last year that he was one of the best runners in the Conference. Enough said.

As for Nally, he is a low slung speedster who doesn't know when to quit. Tennessee and various other outfits can attest to that.

It has been broken down to the fact that these three are expected to be the chief running threats against the light Techsters when they entertain the Vanderbilt men in the opener.

Can anybody blame Tech Coach Bobby Dodd when he says, "We are thankful that we have had no bad injuries so far in practice. We have been unusually lucky. Coleman, Harley, Beck, Queen and some others have been hurt, but our main attack hasn't been hit too badly. It's our defense that has us worried. We have fine men. But they don't have the bulk to hit all the time. Somethings is going to have to give. It might be us."

Vandy's line will outweigh the Engineers, just like most of the rest will this season. But there's going to be a football game out at the Flats on that Saturday soon, and somebody will be sorry.

VILLANOVA TEAM DELAYED IN TEXAS BY TRAIN WRECK

DALLAS—(AP)—The Villanova football team was an unwilling guest in Dallas yesterday. A train wreck in Missouri was the reason the Pennsylvanians had to lay over in this city for five hours on the way to College Station to play Texas A. and M. tonight.

A two-hour delay caused by a freight wreck prevented the squad of 36 players, five coaches and other officials making a connection in Dallas so they could reach College Station early yesterday afternoon.

As a result they were scheduled to be in College Station at 8 p. m. and they planned to hold a work-out under the lights.

Kentucky To Unveil Soph Flash

By JOHN BRADBERRY

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Bear Bryant unveils his 1949 Kentucky Wildcats and his fabulous sophomore, Vito Parilli, here tonight in an early season opener against Mississippi Southern.

The 'Cats as a whole are admittedly stronger than in 1948 and Parilli, who'll open at quarterback, could well be the rookie of the year in the Southeastern Conference. The 185-pound Rochester, Pa., product is a top flight passer and runner and in preseason drills showed well as a field general.

Three other sophs are in Bryant's starting offensive lineup—Fullback Bill Leskovar, Guard John Ignarski, and Center Bill Moseley. They'll join four seniors and three juniors at the opening kickoff.

Bob Gain, the Wildcats' star tackle, who made several all-star teams last season, won't start. He was injured in practice last week.

Southern left Hattiesburg, Miss., yesterday morning and was slated to work out in Birmingham yesterday afternoon, arriving here this morning. Eight seniors and three juniors are slated to start for the little club which has earned a reputation of causing plenty of trouble for SEC opponents in the past.

Probable lineups:

MISS. SOUTH.	Pos.	KENTUCKY
McCormick	LE	Clairborne
Taylor	LT	Pope
Smith	LG	Holway
Butler	C	Moseley
Jordan	RG	Ignarski
Borde	RT	Yowarsky
Coggin	RE	Bradshaw Odlivak
Holmes or Legros	QB	Parilli
Spruiell	LH	Phelps
Brown	RH	Howe
Owen	FB	Leskovar

Game time: 8 p. m. (Central Standard).

Vanderbilt Tackle May Miss Tech Tilt

NASHVILLE—(AP)—Bob Page, 200-pound senior tackle, appeared likely yesterday to miss Vanderbilt's opening football game with Georgia Tech Sept. 24.

Head Coach Bill Edwards said he has about given up hope that Page, who suffered a knee injury on Labor Day, will be in shape for the game a week away.

Another Commodore on the sidelines as the team warmed up for the Georgia Tech game was Rance Hardy, reserve end. He injured a knee in last Saturday's scrimmage.

Notre Dame's Emil Sitko May Miss First Game

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—(AP)—Emil Sitko, Notre Dame fullback, may not be able to play against Indiana in the opening game of the season here Sept. 24, Trainer Hugh Burns reported yesterday.

Sitko, of Fort Wayne, suffered a wrenched knee Wednesday in a tackling drill. Mike Swistowicz, Chicago senior, is replacing Sitko. Coach Frank Leahy will send his players through an inter-squad game today.

British Take 3-1 Lead In Ryder Tilts

GANTON, England— (UP) —A pair of 41-year-old pros who spent long hours filing down their iron clubs to meet American demands gave Great Britain's angered Ryder Cup Golf Team a surprising 3-1 lead over the United States yesterday by whipping Sam Snead and Lloyd Mangrum in the last of four Scotch foursome matches opening the two-day series.

Dick Burton and Arthur Lees, chief targets in an American protest against "roughed up" club heads, clinched the match when Mangrum, faced with a last ditch putt of 12 feet to win the hole and square the contest, missed by inches on the thirty-sixth green. Burton and Lees won, 1-up.

As a result of their superb, subpar play in driving rains, the British need only an even break in today's eight singles matches to win the cup for the first time since 1933 and bring an end to a series of humiliating international sports defeats.

Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Cal., and Clayton Heafner, Charlotte, N. C., salvaged the only American victory by downing Charley Ward and Sam King, 4-3, with the colorful Demaret's brilliant shot-making drawing reluctant gasps of admiration from the highly partisan gallery of 10,000.

But the British spectators had reason for real cheers as the home forces, underdogs at 4-1, battled the invaders bitterly all down the line.

Max Faulkner, Britain, and rugged Jimmy Adams, Scotland, defeated Johnny Palmer, Badin, N. C., and E. J. (Dutch Harrison, Little Rock, Ark., 2-1, and black-haired Fred Daly, Ireland, teaming with Ken Bousfield, England, downed Stewart (Skip) Alexander, Lexington, N. C., and Bob Hamilton, Landover, Md., 4-2.

Today's singles pairings:

Harbert vs. King; Hamilton vs. Rees; Palmer vs. Adams; Harrison vs. Faulkner; Snead vs. Ward; Heafner vs. Burton; Demaret vs. Lees, and Mangrum vs. Daly.

Russell Ties Rome; Riot Is Averted

ROME—Rome and Russell, of Atlanta, battled to a 7-7 deadlock in a Region 4-AA football game that was marred by a near riot in the fourth quarter here last night.

An overflow crowd of 7,500 fans saw the Hilltoppers take the lead in the second quarter when Bob Aycock, Rome back, fumbled, with the ball rolling into the end zone and being recovered by his teammate, Tommy Dobson. The kick was good.

Russell tied it up in the final period when Jerry Sanders raced over from the 10-yard line. Again the conversion was good.

Neither team showed any definite advantage during the contest.

The trouble occurred late in the final quarter when Sanders was tackled near the sidelines by a Rome player. Players from both sides joined in along with fans, but officers and officials soon quieted things down.

Covington Whips Gray High, 13-0

COVINGTON — Newton County High School's Rams launched their 1949 grid season with a 13-0 triumph over Gray here last night before an overflow crowd of 2,500 fans.

Quarterback Charlie Smith was the sparkplug for the winners, hustling over the first touchdown in the initial period from the fifteen and tossing a long pass to Ray Hambrick for the other Ram marker in the second period. Fullback Don Randle bucked for the extra point following the second touchdown.

Covington out - first - downed Gray, 11-3.

Bo Etheridge, who ran 65 yards after receiving a pass, was the biggest threat in the visiting offense. He stepped out of bounds on this run, though, aand was denied a chance for a touchdown.

Kilgore, Green Pace 52-0 Model Victory

ROME — Model High's Blue Devils launched their 1949 football season with an easy 52-0 victory over Acworth in a Region 3-B game yesterday afternoon at Model.

Kilgore and Green scored twice each for the winners, while Hartline, Watkins, Pence and Freeman added single touchdowns. The Model offensive, featuring expert blocking, was in command all the way.

Jolly was outstanding for the losers.

Pruitt Leads Buford To 27-0 Victory

BUFORD—Winthrop Pruitt led R. H. Riden's Buford Wolverines to a 27-0 victory over Eastanollee here last night.

The Wolves scored once in the second quarter, twice in the third and added a finally tally in the fourth.

of the 1,200,000 voters have re-registered.

Excerpts from the Supreme Court's decision follow:

"Though no contention is made that this act or any section thereof contravenes the provisions of the Constitution relative to the qualification of voters, reference to those provisions indicate that the legislative purpose is to provide the necessary machinery to carry out these provisions.

(The provisions cited state that every citizen shall be entitled to register and vote who is not disqualified under certain Constitutional provisions and who is of good character and understands the duties and obligations of citizenship under a republican form of Government, or all persons who can correctly read and write correctly in the English language any paragraph of the Federal or State Constitutions).

"The right of suffrage is a political right, as compared with a property or civil right. . . . The right to vote is not granted to a citizen by the Constitution of the United States. Nor is it a privilege of the United States under the 14th Amendment. Nor does the 15th Amendment abridge a State's power over suffrage, but only denies to the State any action which discriminates against citizens of the United States to disqualify or vote by reason of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

"Though the State Constitution guarantees the right of suffrage to those who meet its qualifications, and they are entitled to register, and this right cannot be absolutely denied or taken away by legislative enactment, the Legislature has the right to prescribe reasonable regulations as to how these qualifications shall be determined. The fact that a citizen who meets one of several tests provided by the Constitution had to register or re-register does not deprive him of his Constitutional right of suffrage; but is only a reasonable regulation under which the right may be exercised.

"The Legislature has a wide latitude in determining how the qualifications required by the Constitution may be determined, provided it does not deny the right of franchise by making the exercise of such right so difficult or inconvenient as to amount to a denial of the right to vote. Registration statutes have for their purpose the regulation of the exercise of the right of sufferage, not to qualify or restrict the right to vote.

"Such registration laws must be impartial, uniform, and reasonable. . . . Every presumption favors constitutionality of a regularly enacted statute. Only where it manifestly impinges upon the Constitution or violates rights of citizens will it be declared unconstitutional. The alleged conflict with the Constitution must be plain.

"We know of no constitutional right possessed by a registered voter which prevents the Legislature from requiring him to qualify as a voter in future election. Counsel for the defendant have cited no authority, and we have found none, to support the contention that a voter who was on the registration list of qualified voters at the time of the passage of this Act has a vested right to stay on the list.

"The main purpose of the Voters Registration Act is to require all persons who are qualified to vote under the Constitution to register before voting. (Here, a Federal court decision was cited which stated: 'If the Legislature had other or additional purposes, which, considered apart, it had no constitutional power to make effective, that would not have the result of making the Act invalid.')

"We are therefore of the opinion that the Voters Registration Act of 1949 is not invalid in every part for the reasons asserted by the defendant as being violative of specified provisions of the State Constitution.

"The defendant says the Act denies (a) person's liberty without due process or law, and (b) a citizens equal protection of law, because it sets up a board to censor the right of a citizen to vote—but it is not pointed out how and in what manner the Act denies him due process of law a right or liberty which is granted under the 14th Amendment does not confer upon a Amendment. . . . The 14th Amendment does not confer upon a citizen the right to vote.

". . . There is no assertion that the defendant or anyone else who is qualified under the Constitution to vote has sought to register and been unlawfully denied the right to register. Nor does he point out how or in what manner the Act empowers the board of registras to discriminate against his right or any other citizen.

We can find nothing in the Act that indicates the law has the effect of denying to any qualified voter the right to register on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude that would form the basis for the defendant to challenge the statute as violating the 15th Amendment.

(While the defendant cited Federal cases, the State Supreme Court observed that in each of these case, the person challenging the statute in question was 'a member of a class that the court held the statute proposed to discriminate against.').

"No contention is made here that the Act as a whole discriminates against the class of which the defant is a member.

(The defendant in this case is chairman of the Richmond County Commissioners, and is a white citizen).

"The mere possibility that the Board of Registrars may under this statute act arbitrarily or recklessly in administering the law and thereby violate consititutional rights is not a ground for declaring the Act as a whole unconstitutional."

Tito Plans Anti-Red Fight, Ex-Commie Rajk Claims

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A plan to lead Central Europe in an anti-Soviet crusade was ascribed to Premier Marshal Tito, of Yugoslavia, by Laszlo Rajk, once Hungary's second-ranking Communist, from a courtroom prisoner's dock in Budapest yesterday.

Rajk pleaded guilty to plotting to overthrow the Hungarian Government as part of the crusade. He was former Interior Minister of Hungary and long regarded as an undeviating Communist.

For four hours in a Budapest people's court he piled blame on himself to prove government charges that since 1931 he had worked to wreck the Communist Party from within. He worked, he said, as a police agent for prewar anti-Communists in Hungary, and as a spy for the United States, Yugoslavia, France, Germany and Britain.

Until his arrest last May 30, the Communists believed him a faithful comrade, he said.

He named Americans in the Tito plot. Selden Chapin, former Minister to Hungary, and George Kovach, a New York hotel manager who was a colonel with the American Military Mission in Budapest after the war, both denied, immediately and flatly, Rajk's charges they told him what to do or helped him plot.

Rajk was the first of eight defendants to go on trial.

Yugoslavia denied the anti-Soviet crusade charges in advance of the trial, which it said was staged in a Soviet campaign to force out Tito.

In Washington officials of the Atlantic alliance virtually completed plans for lining up the defenses of Western Europe and North America under a single grand strategy. These plans call for a co-ordinated regional military organization under direction of a Defense Committee. They will be laid before the Council of the North Atlantic Treaty at its first meeting today.

Atlanta Flier Hurt in Crash

MONTEREY, Tenn.—(AP)—Clifford Jockers, 36, of 1215 East Rock Springs Rd., Atlanta, was injured today in the crash of his small two-seater plane on a foggy mountain near here.

Jockers said he was flying from Atlanta to Nashville when he ran into thick fog hanging over the Cumberland plateau. His plane piled into woods on the mountainside and was demolished.

Jockers was taken to a Monterey Hospital for treatment of a lacerated face and possible internal injuries.

FINDS JUDGE FRIEND

Oft Married DingdongDad Weds Again

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Ding Dong Daddy of the D car line Francis Hi Van Wie was married yesterday by the judge who sent him to prison for bigamy.

No one—least of all the bride—seemed to know or care how many times Van Wie had been married before. The marriage license he and Mrs. Mary Aba, 49, of Oakland, obtained, said he had been married three times before.

In the absence of an official count, however, the 62-year-old romantic ex-streetcar conductor generally was credited with 13 or 14 earlier marriages.

A couple of years ago Van Wie was sentenced to San Quentin prison by Municipal Judge Herbert C. Kaufman on bigamy charges. Paroled, he was placed on probation for five years. One of the terms of probation was that he must not remarry for five years.

After discussing the matter with Mrs. Aba and Van Wie yesterday, Judge Kaufman terminated the probation. And he declined Van Wie's proferred $3 to pay the fines assessed after his parole.

Then Judge Kaufman began reading the ceremony. But Van Wie had no ring.

"Who's got a ring?" Judge Kaufman asked of the spectators—four reporters and five cameramen.

A cameraman drew an old style gold ring from his own finger, handed it to Van Wie and the ceremony proceeded.

Van Wie refused to say where he and his bride would go for their honeymoon. Neither would he say where they would live in Oakland.

The truck-trailer also caught fire after the crash and one occupant was taken to Cooper Hospital with severe burns of the face and neck.

GEORGIA'S FIRST CITIZEN—Gen. Lucius D. Clay, of Marrietta, former Military Governor of Germany, was nominated as "first citizen of Georgia" last night following his address at the inauguration dinner of the Military Order of World Wars. Col. T. Clinton Huguley, new Commander of the organization, made the nomination. Clay told his audience Americans could best support this country's military and foreign policies by exercising the rights they are designed to protect. He urged more people to cast ballots in elections. Jackson C. Dick introduced the speaker. In the picture, Clay, left, is shown conferring with, clockwise: Col. W. A. Horne, outgoing Commander; Col. LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON

Briton To Wed Augusta Girl

LONDON—(AP)—Twenty-one-year-old Robin Braithwaite has followed in the romantic footsteps of his father, Sir Albert.

Like his father, he has chosen an Augusta, Georgia, girl as his bride-to-be. She's Susanna Wilcox, 20, who lives near the family home of Lady Braithwaite.

Sir Albert met his bride-to-be during World War One while he was attached to a military mission in Washington. Robin met his fiancee during World War Two at a school in the United States when he was evacuated there from London.

"We were boy and girl friends when I was 13 and she was 12 years old," Robin said. "I used to take her to the corner drugstore and tell her about England. We made plans to become engaged then."

Lewis Stops Payments to Coal Miners

WASHINGTON—(AP)—John L. Lewis stopped welfare payments to coal miners yesterday just as 8,000 diggers stopped work in the West.

The Western miners said their stoppage was a voluntary one, and Lewis here would not talk about a strike.

The United Mine Workers' leader said the halt in payments from the miners welfare fund was due to lack of funds.

Before his announcement there had been every indication of a quick showdown over the refusal of some operators, particularly in the South, to make the 20-cent a ton royalty payments which have financed the fund.

The stoppage, in effect even as Lewis announced the end of welfare payments, occurred in the Utah-Wyoming district of the UMW.

Houston Martin of Rock Springs, Wyo., said it was purely voluntary and that it had not been called by union officials. The men said it was in effect pending a settlement of the current contract dispute.

A spokesman for the Utah Coal Operators' Association said at Salt Lake City that the men were "stopped from going to work at some of the mines by local officials of the United Mine Workers."

He said he did not know the reason.

Suspension of the fund payments to miners was ordered in a resolution by the fund's trustees.

Lewis declined to say by what vote the resolution was adopted.

Little Jerry Kaminsky must have thought he was a human cash register.

Kept home from school because of a sore throat, the seven-year-old LaGrange boy was amusing himself with his cash-register piggy-bank yesterday, when . . . gulp, a shiny new quarter slid down his throat and stuck in his esophagus.

State Patrolmen rushed the youth and his mother, Mrs. I. Kaminsky, to the Ponce de Leon Infirmary here, where the coin was removed by an esophascope and forceps.

The youngster is in tip-top shape again, except for the sore throat.

Vet Dividend Checks Start In January

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The top dividend checks to be sent to World War II veterans on their National Service Life Insurance will be for $528. Dividends will start going out in January.

Veterans Administrator Carl R. Gray, Jr., disclosed this yesterday in releasing the formula to be used in distributing the $2,800,000,000 dividend among some 16,000,000 veterans and their dependents and heirs. He had planned to release it next Sunday but changed his plans because of published reports about the formula.

The dividend, to be paid before next June 30, is not subject to income tax. Veterans must apply for it, and about three-fourths of them have already done so.

The formula, Gray said, is calculated on the basis of a dividend of 55 cents for each $1,000 of insurance, for each month the policy was in force before its anniversary date in 1948, for all policy-holders who were aged 40 or younger at the time the policy was issued.

For older veterans, the dividend declines gradually until it is 30 cents a month, for each $1,000 of insurance, for veterans 55 and over when the policy was issued.

The scale: age 41 at issue, 52 cents; 42, 49 cents; 43, 46 cents; 44, 43 cents; 45, 40 cents; 46, 37 cents; 47, 34 cents; 48, 31 cents; 49, 28 cents; 50, 25 cents; 51, 24 cents; 52, 23 cents; 53, 22 cents; 54, 21 cents.

For ordinary commercial life insurance, the typical monthly premium for $1,000 of term insurance at age 21 in $1.25, the Veterans Administration said.

American Soldier Tells Of Torture by Russians

BERLIN—(AP)—Four Western soldiers, an American and three Britons, broke to freedom last midnight from a Soviet prison in which they said they were tortured, beaten and poorly fed for months.

The American is Pvt. John J. Sienkiewicz, 26, of Baltimore, Md., a veteran of 21 months of tough campaigning in the Pacific War, who disappeared from his unit of the 16th Infantry Regiment here last Nov. 5.

The Britons, who face charges of being absent without leave at the time of their arrest 18 months ago, were identified by British Army authorities as John Boniface, Morris Sullivan and Arthur Taylor.

Weary, dirty and marked by prison pallor, the four made their way on foot to safety in the Western sectors early yesterday. All were hospitalized. The Britons were reported "in poor physical shape." The U. S. Army said Sienkiewicz was "in generally weakened physical condition, but not undernourished."

Sienkiewicz said he was nabbed by a Russian officer when he rode a street car into the Soviet sector by mistake Nov. 5 and his name, carried on his identification card, led the Russians to believe he was a Polish displaced person being used as a spy.

The stockily built soldier told tales of ice water dunking, of long questioning, of standing 24 hours in a cell without room to sit or kneel and of "having the hell slapped out of me." He said he was "questioned day and night" for the first 16 days of his arrest.

"They asked me about guns, tanks and troops of the American Army and promised that if I told them they would let me go," he said. "When I refused to answer a high-ranking Russian officer slapped me in the face.

"After that they took my clothes away from me and gave me the cold water treatment. That was in February and they took me into a room naked and stood me knee-deep in ice water for 24 hours."

The British soldiers also told of ice immersions and other torture. They reported a fourth British soldier still is in the Soviet prison. They identified him as a Private Tyrell, of London. A British request to Soviet authorities for his release resulted in the promise of "an immediate investigation."

Accounts of the midnight escape varied in minor details, but agreed: Sullivan pierced his cell wall, either with a knife or a metal leg off his bed, and then battered off the locks of the cells holding the others. They fled over a high wall topped by jagged glass.

Spiendiewicz said he had escaped from the prison twice before, but was recaptured each time. Another time, he said, he whittled out a wooden pistol for an escape attempt, but the Russians found it "and slapped hell out of me."

He said the Russians once told him that, even if they did turn him loose, "they would send me to Poland."

He told of a cat-and mouse game in which the Russians "gave me some cigarettes, but no matches. Once when I asked a sentry for a match he just jabbed his bayonet at me and it ripped my sleeve."

He said his bed was a plain board bench, without blankets.

"My food improved greatly about five or six weeks ago, when I began to get white bread for the first time since I was arrested," he said.

THEATER GUILD CALLS OFF CATS

Call off the cats!

Atlanta Theater Guild players, who appealed in The Atlanta Constitution's Friday issue for " a stage-struck black tomcat" last night reported they were "stampeded by feline actors."

"We had telephone calls all day from as far away as Marietta," Director Frank Belyeu declared. "We're now in the throes of casting that cat-role in 'I Remember Mama' from a slew of likely candidates."

Guild rehearsals for the Oct. 19 production were abruptly halted when the cast discovered the "tomcat" originally slated for an important part was going to have kittens. Belyeu hurriedly called for a guaranteed tom cat immune from stork visits.

Paris Still Gay Rendezvous But Price of Fun Is High

By MARGARET STOVALL

"I found Paris the same gay Paree that I left three years ago, but prices are fantastically high—19 times higher than they were before the war."

The speaker was Mrs. E. Byron Hilley, wife of a prominent Atlanta attorney and a former French war bride, who is just back from a Summer spent with her family in Paris.

"Americans with their dollars fare well indeed," continued Mrs. Hilley, "but such prices make matters very difficult for the French people whose salaries are only 6 times their peak in pre-war days."

"Though recovery from war hazards is slow, conditions showed marked improvement during recent years," said Mrs. Hilley. "Coffee, sugar, salad oil, gasoline—which sells for 65 cents in American money—electricity and gas are the principal articles still on the rationed list."

Four years ago Mrs. Hilley, the former Raymonde Schwartz, was going her merry way in Paris. It was St. Valentine's Day, 1945. She was strolling down the street with her father, Monsieur F. M. Schwartz, who is owner of a fashionable dress establishment on St. Philip du Roule, just off the Champs d'Elysees.

An Atlanta Major, E. Byron Hilley, who had been assigned to Maj. Gen. Littlejohn's office and who had been in the city only two days, had lost his way and inquired of Monsieur Schwartz as to directions. Raymonde acted as interpreter for her father who spoke little English and Major Hilley's French was none too good.

Shortly after their chance meeting, Raymonde invited the Major and a group of his friends to tea at the handsome Schwartz residence. From then on events happened with lightning speed and on Mar. 1, 1946 Raymonde and Major Hilley were married by the Mayor of Paris and the next day by Raymonde's church, Eglise Reformee de L'Etoile. Shortly thereafter they came to Atlanta where Mr. Hilley is a barrister and a professor of law at Emory University.

Mrs. Hilley went to France this Summer to introduce her 2½-year-old son, Didier, to his grandparents and to other members of her family. She flew from New York to Paris in 14 hours.

Two months of Mrs. Hilley's visit were spent at the beautiful Schwartz summer home at fashionable Deauville with her parents and her brother and sister, Monsieur and Madam Alfred Schoebel. Mr. Schoebel, who is Athletic Director at Ecole Polytechnique, one of France's finest engineering schools, was a member of the 1932 French Olympic swimming team.

On several occasions Mrs. Hilley saw Rita Hayworth and Aly Kahn "sunning" on the beach and in Paris she met Rex Harrison, the movie star. Mrs. James Alston, of Atlanta, and her children, Amanda and Stuart, paid a pop-call on Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz, at Deauville, while the Hilleys were there. They are spending the Summer with Mrs. Alston's parents in London. Mr. Alston and Mr. Hilley have been fast friends since they attended Emory Law School together.

Speaking of lawyers, Mrs. Hilley is herself a graduate in law from the Sorbonne. At the time of the fall of France, she was a writer on economic subjects in the French Ministry of Economic Warfare.

Her niece, Lily Schoebel, who is 14 years of age, has been studying in England this Summer. She is quite a linguist and has a remarkable voice for one so young. In several years she plans to come to Atlanta, live with her uncle and aunt and further her languae courses at Emory, studying voice on the side.

Dress-Up Fabrics Have Old World Charm

fashion-telling by Spadea

They look like a million (some of them—but not all—cost nearly that). They're resplendent, elaborate, rich and sumptuous . . . the fabrics that designers are using for their later afternoon, cocktail, dinner and evening dresses. We find gold-shot French brocades, lustrous velvet-embossed taffetas, re-embroidered laces, allover beading, magnificent ombres.

Tina Leser, who took a trip around the world before starting her Fall collection, brings us her interpretation of the Mahwari skirt of Rajputana in braid-trimmed black velveteen (A). A yellow facing on the skirt can be seen through little holes.

Jacques Fath, who designs for Joseph Halpert in America, utilizes the utmost in simplicity of line for his dress of heavy black silk brocade (B). Buttons by the score are the only trim.

Ombred surah is the fabric Jo Copeland picks for this cocktail dress (C). Starting with bright green at top, it shades down to a deep dark green at the hem. Nettie Rosenstein builds pockets on a ball dress of stiff silk satin (D)—the color a thrilling lemon yellow.

Almost white (a color to be watched as much as almost black) in ottoman is Larry Aldrich's choice for his late day and cocktail dress (E). The black belt sets the tempo for the other accessories.

STEP RIGHT IN, GIRLS

No Hardware in New Bra, Just You and Curves

NEW YORK—(NYN)—If you please, girls! This will be a brief lecture on the new step-in bra. Now, don't be afraid of it—you won't have nearly as much trouble as the ox who wore the first yoke.

This new device to make you lovely may be tricky, but it is an absolute must with the new pinch waist, and you may as well get accustomed to it now.

Now we put the bra on the floor, like this. Now take a leg—either leg—and step in the center. Now grab either side of the rig with both hands, straighten and pull up . . . up!

A little more now. Just a little bit more, please. All right, take a rest, but let's get on with it.

Maybe we can do it better this way: One, two, three, pull. One, two, three, pull.

Notice how your flesh is rolling up with the rigging? Don't be silly. Of course you can breathe. Maid! Get that girl a glass of water!

Now, as we were saying, the big idea is the lift up. All that silly old fat is now rolled up to where it will bulge out nice and curvy. You know what we mean, girls.

And notice this, there is no hardware anywhere to fuss around with. Now, right under the bra, we'll put a pinch-waist girdle. That single little tab on the back of the bra hitches to the girdle. Cute?

Girls, you look like perfect hourglasses. You can't breathe? Don't be absurd. You couldn't complain if you couldn't breathe. Therefore you must be breathing.

Besides, see how the front of this newly styled bra is cut very low. Do you know why?

That is not the answer.

But, anyway, the manufacturer says it was made that way to allow for easy breathing.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East

Opening lead: Three of spades.

THIRD HAND NOT TOO HIGH

Against the contract of three no trump, West elected to lead the three of spades, though many modern players, on apparently hopeless hands of this type, tend to favor a short suit lead, in the vague hope of finding partner's strength.

The four of spades was played from dummy and East guided by the maxim "third hand high" won the ace. He returned the queen which was permitted to hold, and the third round of spades was taken by declarer. The club finesse was now tried and lost to East, who was unable to return a spade, and declarer romped off with the rest of the tricks.

The hand was not given a further thought. Every one assumed that the normal result had been attained. Actually, East had been afflicted with lack of vision in blindly following the adage, "third hand high."

East's proper play at trick one was the queen of spades, on the following reason: If partner holds the king it is immaterial whether East plays the ace or the queen, but the opening no trump bid by South marks him almost to a certainty with that card. The important point is that South cannot have the singleton king. This is apparent both from the no trump bid and from the fact that partner led the three (his fourth best) which means that West has at most five cards in the suit. That is to say, West has three cards higher than the three, and can have only one card that is lower, namely, the deuce, allowing him a maximum of five cards in that suit and therefore declarer a minimum of three.

East should realize that if he plays the ace, declarer will refuse to win with the king until the third round, and surely a simple survey of the high cards in sight should make it clear that West cannot have an entry card.

If, however, East had played the queen, South, not knowing the location of the ace of spades, would have been compelled to win the trick and when East obtained the lead with the king of clubs, the ace and another spade would defeat the contract.

While it is true that South could still have made the hand by refusing the queen of spades, I think it will be agreed that this is a play which he would hardly have been in a position to make unless East had made a gratuitous display of all his possessions. The type of strategy suggested for East is a defense against the hold-up and should be employed when one is persuaded that partner cannot have any entry cards.

Pent Emotions Blamed For Up Blood Pressure

By KATHERINE BARNWELL
Constitution Staff Writer

MACON — Frustrations ranging from an unfulfilled ambition to save the world to a pent-up desire to "tell off" a mother-in-law can contribute to high blood pressure.

That's the theory of Dr. Henry Schroeder, of St. Louis, Associate Professor of Medicine at Washington University.

Dr. Schroeder, who addressed the first annual meeting of the Georgia Heart Association here last night, pointed out:

"The person with high blood pressure usually is plagued by emotional conflicts." In one of the most comprehensive research studies of hypertension ever undertaken, Dr. Schroeder noted two attributes of the hypertensive person:

1. An over-active drive for accomplishment.

2. A failure to release normal emotions.

"These two conflict," explained Dr. Schroeder, 'can produce emotional tensions which must be released in one way or another."

He said the average person would discharge them by physical action, perhaps by "telling off" his friends, wife or mother-in-law. But the person with high blood pressure may discharge his pent-up emotions through his body.

Dr Schroeder laughingly said he couldn't conscientiously recommend a tantrum, but he suggested that people try to resolve their pent-up feelings—possibly by "understandinng the other fellow's point of view.

He said an "emotional discharge" caused the blood vessels to get smaller and raised the blood pressure suddenly. As a result of the constricted vessels, the kidneys don't get enough blood and are caused to manufacture some chemical which raises the blood pressure.

In recent research, Dr. Schroeder and his associates have isolated a chemical found in hypertensive persons. When the chemical is injected into animals, they have high blood pressure, he said.

Dr. Schroeder pointed out that 40 percent of all people over 40 have some form of hypertension. Noting that 300,000 people a year die directly or indirectly from the effects of hypertension—heart disease, kidney failure or apoplexy—he called the disease "one of our greatest public health problems." Although certain drugs have been found "effective" in treating some aspects of hypertension, Dr. Schroeder said none was yet "practical." he predicted however that a cure, probably in the form of a drug, eventually would be found for the most serious disease of American civilization." Other speakers here yesterday included Dr. Thomas Ross, of Macon, and Dr. John Willis Hurst, Dr. Arthur J. Merrill, and Dr. Robert L. Whipple, Jr., all of Atlanta.

Dr. T. Sterling Claiborne, of Atlanta, was elected President of the Georgia Heart Association, succeeding Dr. Bruce Logue. Other new officers are: Dr. J. W. Chambers, of LaGrange, Vice President, and Dr. J. Gordon Barrow, of Atlanta, Secretary-Treasurer.

Navy Officers Warned About 'Popping Off'

WASHINGTON—(UP) — Secretary of the Navy Francis P. Matthews yesterday ordered naval officers to stop sounding off in public about the unification controversy stirred up anew by outspoken Capt. John G. Crommelin.

He said officers who share Crommelin's fear for the Navy's future can have their say—provided they submit their views to Navy headquarters "through channels."

But his strongly-worded directive to all Navy commands, said success of the unification program and "the maintenance of harmony among the services" has been jeopardized by the series of unauthorized public statements by Commmelin and naval officers who rallied to his support.

Crommelin, 46-year-old naval flier who commanded the carrier, Saipan, during the war, charged in a statement to the press last Saturday that the Army and Air Force have teamed up under unification to wreck the Navy's fighting power and take over the defense establishment.

Retired Adm. William F. (Bull) Halsey and several other high naval officers later issued statements of support for Crommelin.

Matthews said their actions have been "a source of embarrassment" to the Navy.

That was the closest he has come to date to reprimanding Crommelin and his supporters formally. Previously, Matthews said he did not plan disciplinary action against Crommelin "at this time."

No Refunds On Past Poor Service

The Georgia Supreme Court yesterday ruled that the State Public Service Commission cannot order utilities to make refunds on inadequate service in the past.

The high court held that the PSC had no authority to order the Atlanta Gas Light Company to make refunds totaling $100,000 to 13 business firms in Atlanta, Macon and Milledgeville which contracted for uninterrupted service and actually received interrupted service. A higher rate is charged for uninterrupted service.

The utility objected to a Commission order of Dec. 11, 1948, which ordered it to make the rebates. It obtained a favorable decision in the lower courts and was upheld by the Supreme Court.

23 Doctors Cleared In U. S. Rebate Suit

CHICAGO —(AP)— Twenty-three doctors yesterday were dropped from the list of defendants in a Government antitrust suit which seeks to halt the "rebate" practice between oculists and makers of eyeglasses.

The doctors originally were on a list furnished at Government demand by the House of Vision, Belgard-Spero, Inc., Chicago.

A motion filed by the House of Vision yesterday deleted 23 names from its original roster of doctors who had received rebates for sending their patients there to purchase spectacles.

Russian Churchmen Appeal for DPs

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Leaders of the Russian Orthodox Church appealed yesterday for quick admittance into the United States of some 5,000 White Russian refugees now stranded in the Philippines and facing deportation.

If Congress denies them haven "they are completely lost," bearded Archbishop John told a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee.

The Committee is considering House-passed amendments to the Displaced Persons Act of 1948 to grant admittance visas to 4,000 so-called "Shanghai refugees"—a general term applied to war refugees who fled Europe for China and became stateless persons without citizenship.

ESCAPE RED CONTROL

Poles Flee to Sweden In Kidnaped Plane

STOCKHOLM, Sweden—(UP)—Five armed Polish refugees yesterday commandeered a passenger plane over Poland and forced its crew to fly across the Baltic Sea and land in Southern Sweden.

The plane landed at a military airport near Nykoeping. The five fugitives begged Swedish authorities not to send them back to their Communist-dominated homeland, but were unable to get an immediate answer.

The plane's three crewmen and seven other passengers were assured that any of them who wish t go back home will "certainly be allowed to return."

The plane, a two-engined DC-3, took off early yesterday on a routine flight from Danzig to Lodz in central Poland.

Somewhere along the way, five passengers stood up and drew guns. One of them covered the other passengers, while four stormed the forward compartment and ordered the pilot, co-pilot and radio operator to take the plane to Sweden.

With a gun at his neck, the pilot flew the plane to Nykoeping. The co-pilot, also at gun point, sat with his hands at his sides during the flight, but helped the pilot land.

The radio operator was warned that he would be shot dead if he tried to transmit signals to any Polish ground station.

Immediately after landing the plane, the three crewmen demanded that they be sent back to Poland. Swedish authorities said they could fly the plane back as soon as the investigation was complete.

They said any passengers who wanted to go back could return with the plane.

A police spokesman said, however, that the treatment of the five refugees "will be a pretty complicated case."

"The Polish government may ask us to order the refugees to leave Sweden so they can prosecute them," the spokesman said. "It certainly is a delicate situation."

The names of the passengers were not made public, but authoritive reports said none were prominent.

JET EJECTS PILOT

Bailing Out At 600 MPH Told By Navy

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The Navy reported yesterday that one of its pilots successfully bailed out of a jet plane going more than 600 miles an hour — "probably the highest speed" at which it ever has been done.

The pilot was Lt. Jack K. L. Fruin, of Elmhurst, Ill., a member of Fighter Squadron 171 based on Cecil Field, Florida.

He bailed out at 30,000 feet in a mechanical ejection seat from an F2H McDonnel Banshee twin-engine jet fighter after losing control of the plane in a heavy overcast near Cherry Point, N. C., last Aug. 9.

Death Sentence Upheld For Slayer of Two

The State Supreme Court Thursday upheld the death sentence of Elisha Claude Brown, Jr., Negro, convicted for the murder of two Negro children.

Brown was tried, convicted and sentenced to death in Atlanta last October in the deaths of two school children, William C. Butler, 14, and Harry Askin, 17.

Testimony during the trial said Brown sat in a car with a rifle across his knee until a group of school children, laughing and playing, approached.

At this point, said an eyewitness, Brown leaped from his car and fired twice, killing both boys.

During the trial, Brown offered no explanation of his motives and no evidence was introduced that he had ever seen either of the children before.

The defense contended that the State had not proved premeditation and that the jury should have been advised of the voluntary manslaughter statute and Brown should have been convicted on that count.

Rabid Spaniel Attacks Three

A black cocker spaniel, which preliminary tests definitely indicates had rabies, was captured at Perkerson school yesterday after biting at least three youngsters.

Two of the victims were boys attending the school on Lakewood Avenue, S. E., O. D. Owens, of the Fulton County Health Department, said. He identified them as Warren A. Welch, and Robert Rogers. The third youngster was a five-year-old girl, Paula Ann Gabe, who lived adjacent to the dog's owner on Campbellton Road, S. W.

Owens warned all persons who may have been bitten by the dog to get in touch with him immediately at Vernon 8910. He said the dog left the owner's residence at 1767 Campbellton Rd., S. W., two days ago, and had traveled nearly two miles in reaching the school campus.

Never Loved Maxey, Says Nurse Victim

COLUMBIA, S. C.—(AP)—A university professor took the stand yesterday in his trial on charges of brutally pistol-whipping the nurse he said he wanted to wed.

The small, wiry University of South Carolina engineering professor came on after a dull series of testimonials on their friendship.

Ann B. Pierce, 35, a curvaceous brunette who says Prof. Russell B. Maxey made photographs of her in the nude and called her his "kept woman," insists that she never loved him.

"I admired him," she has testified about Maxey, and "he is a brilliant man." But she swore she never promised to marry him or ever accepted offered engagement rings.

Maxey has been quoted as saying he heard her call him a "son of a bitch of a professor" while talking to another man on the telephone.

Sheriff T. Alex Heise, of Richland (olumbia) County, said Maxey told him he was under Miss Pierce's bed when she said it.

Miss Pierce said Maxey hid there just before he clubbed her with a pistol, then beat her head "spongy" Aug. 3 at her suburban cottage home.

Defense Atty. C. T. Graydon called 14 witnesses to help establish his contention that Maxey, 45, and Miss Pierce were friendly and often together through mid-July.

Sitting in court yesterday, Miss Pierce wore a short-skirted gray suit with a large black hat that flopped over her forehead and partially hid the scars of the beating she suffered.

A doctor testified he took 72 stitches in her face.

Tractor Makers Ask $3 Million For 'Junk Libel'

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—A libel suit for $3,000,000 damage was filed yesterday by the Empire Tractor Corporation, Philadelphia, against Time Company, Inc., New York magazine publishing house.

The suit, filed in U. S. District Court, is based on an article which appeared in "Time" magazine Sept. 20, 1948, entitled "A Lot of Junk."

The tractor corporation claims the article conveyed the false impression to readers that Empire defrauded the Argentine Government in the sale of 7,000 tractors in 1947.

Business Men Welcome Exide Chiefs

The business men of Atlanta gave a royal welcome yesterday to Electric Storage Battery Company Executives who came here from Philadelphia to participate in the official opening of this Company's new plant for the manufacture of Exide automotive batteries.

This plant, modern in every respect, is located at 1246 Allene Ave., S. W., and is now turning out from 1,200 to 1,400 Exide batteries daily. It now employs about 75 skilled workmen at an annual payroll of around $300,000. Later, the Company expects to expand its working force here to around 150.

At a luncheon at the Capital City Club, city and county officials and representatives of Atlanta business organizations welcomed this new plant to Atlanta. Speakers included Elbert P. Tuttle, President of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; Mayor Hartsfield and R. L. Doyal, Chairman of the Fulton County Board of County Commissioners.

S. W. Rolph, Executive Vice President of the Electric Storage Battery Company, praised Atlanta for its "industrial climate."

"We established a sales office here 40 years ago," he said. "A little later, we established an assembly plant. Now, with this new factory, we are enlarging activities in this area. For, in the new plant we are going to have a complete manufacturing operation for the automotive type of batteries."

Following the luncheon, the guests made an inspection trip of the new plant and watched the process for making batteries from the beginning to the end.

While Exide makes its batteries in this plant, it buys its battery cases from other plants, many of them from the new plant of the Richardson Company, at Newnan.

Following the tour of inspection, Company officers had a reception in the plant. In addition to Rolph, officers present included: J. A. Cronk, Exide's Atlanta District Manager; Roland Whitehurst, of Philadelphia, Vice President in charge of sales; C. F. Norberg, of Philadelphia, Vice President in charge of manufacturing; C. H. Angstadt, Plant Superintendent at Atlanta; and C. D. Galloway, of Philadelphia, Engineer of the manufacturing department.

Ky. Whiskey Cost Down $5 A Case

LOUISVILLE — (AP) — Brown-Forman Distilleries Corporation announced here yesterday a reduction of $5 a case in the wholesale price of Old Forrester. A case contains 12 one-fifth gallon bottles.

The new prices will become effective in all markets as soon as State regulations permit.

This is the second whiskey price reduction announced within a week by Louisville Distilleries. Glenmore Distilleries Company announced last week a reduction of $1 on a bottle of four-fifth of a quart of Kentucky Tavern.

Resource-Use Meeting Theme

Representatives of 12 Southeastern States will meet here today to explore resource-use education activities in the South, according to John E. Ivey, Jr., Chairman of the Committee on Southern Regional Studies and Education of the American Council on Education. The Committee will sponsor the meeting.

The group meeting today will recommend projects and activities on which future emphasis is needed, according to Ivey, who points out that during the Committee's six years of organization it has collaborated with more than 6,000 agencies and institutions on Southern resource studies.

Hill Urges Full Cottonseed Parity

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Senator Hill, Democrat, Alabama, yesterday urged the Agriculture Department to take steps to guarantee all cotton farmers the full $40.50 per ton parity support price for their cottonseed.

He made his plea for strengthening the support program at a conference with Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, Director Ralph Trigg, of the Commodity Credit Corporation and other department officials.

ALBANY — George Hearn, of Monroe, State American Legion Commander, will be one of the Legion and Auxiliary officials to come to Albany Sunday for a Second District meeting, District Commander Nelson Tift stated.

Double Trouble

ROANOKE, Va. — (UP) — The bewildered teacher who sent identical twins Stephen Leonard and Stanley Leon Oliver on to the second grade sighed yesterday and settled down to a year with identical twins Steven Leon and Stanley Leonard Maxie.

Wallace Calls Sheriff Potts 'Prosecutor'

John Wallace, convicted slayer of Wilson Turner, yesterday through Atty. A. L. Henson sought in Fulton Superior Court a writ of habeas corpus for his release on the grounds that his constitutional rights were violated in his trial.

Henson said if necessary he would carry the case to the United States Supreme Court.

Judge Virlyn Moore scheduled a hearing on the writ for 9:30 a. m. Sept. 24. Wallace is now in Fulton Tower.

The petition alleges Wallace was convicted on the perjured testimony of Albert and Robert Gates; that Sheriff Lamar Potts held them incommunicado until they were put on the witness stand; that they were induced to waive their constitutional immunity and forced to give perjured testimony because of threats of violence.

The petition further charges that newspapers inflamed public opinion against Wallace and that Sheriff Potts assumed the role of active prosecutor and offered $500 of his own money as a reward for testimony against Wallace

It goes on to allege that Tom Strickland, Herring Sivell and Henry Mobley were willing to testify that they saw Wilson Turner alive in Meriwether County several hours after the jury found he was murdered in Coweta County and that suppression of their testimony violated Wallace's rights.

Klan Chief's Hearing Is Put Off

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—(AP)—Another bid to get Klan Chief William Hugh Morris out of jail was balked, at least temporarily, yesterday.

Judge Robert J. Wheeler, who sent the portly KKK director to jail for contempt of court July 7, declined yesterday to consider before next week a new plea for Morris' release.

The Klan leader was sentenced for refusing to give KKK membership rolls to the Grand Jury.

The jury had sought the white-robed order's secret records in connection with an investigation into a wave of floggings and cross burnings in the district. It later indicted 18 persons on flogging and related charges.

Judge Wheeler yesterday refused to reopen Morris' case until the 44-year-old roofing contractor goes before a special session of the jury next Monday.

A full hearing on Morris' petition for release was set for Tuesday afternoon. Morris' attorneys argued for his immediate freedom, but were overruled.

Son Disowns West German Red Leader

AHLEN, Germany —(UP)— Joseph Reimann, 23-year-old son of West Germany's Communist boss, yesterday disowned his father and denounced him as ignorant and misguided.

Young Reimann, who fled a "peoples' police" training school in the Soviet Zone and asked asylum from the British, was reunited with his mother yesterday in this Westphalian town.

"I am glad to have my son back," she said.

Joseph was three years with the Wehrmacht. He was captured at Koenigsburg, East Prussia, April 5, 1945, and spent the next four years in a prisoner of war camp at Novgorod, USSR, making bricks.

"When I told him that I was badly treated in Russia he told me only that Russia was a young country and there would be a steady improvement," Joseph complained bitterly.

"My father knows nothing except Communism," Joseph said. "We have different ideas of freedom." He called his father "misguided" and said he had no intention of seeing him again.

"We are too far apart," he said.

Lonely Hearts Victim's Ashes Seen at Trial

DOVER — (AP) — A cardboard box containing fine gray ashes was produced in court yesterday at the "lonely hearts" trial and identified as part of the remains of Wade N. Wooldridge, 67-year-old Bedford County, Virginia, carpenter.

Maj. Melvin C. Leisure, of the Delaware State Police, testified the ashes were pointed out to him on the Dover city dump by Robert Brennan, 16. The youth is on trial charged with murder in the death of Wooldridge. The boy's mother, Mrs. Inez Brennan, 45, is also on trial on a charge of accessory to murder.

The ashes were in a cardboard container of the type used by lunchrooms to send out coffee and food.

RASH TREATMENT

Divorce May Cure Wife's Allergy

LOS ANGELES—(UP)—A pretty ex-Wac lost her husband yesterday because every time she got close to him she broke out in a rash.

Noland H. Holdridge, 26, brought his wife into court as his chief witness that she suffered from a severe allergy condition in his presence. Holdridge got an annulment on grounds of "physical incompatibility."

Mrs. Joyce Holdridge, 27, testified she was hospitalized four times for treatment of her allergy. She said doctors at the Veterans' Administration hospital determined that her attacks were caused by the presence of her husband and subsided when she was away from him for 24 hours or more.

Superior Judge Ray Brockman commented that it was regretful that the marriage had to come to an end but he accepted the medical evidence that Mrs. Holdridge's condition was incurable as long as she lived with her husband.

Doctors diagnozed her allergy as neuro-demititus and said all efforts to relieve it were futile as long as she stayed with her husband.

Mrs. Holdridge originally had sought a divorce on cruelty charges but she told the court the only thing wrong with her marriage was the allergy she suffered in his presence.

They were married in San Francisco, March 3, 1947, and it was not long afterwards that Mrs. Holdridge began suffering from the allergy. For nearly two years she visited doctors, psychiatrists and skin specialists, seeking a cure.

TIRED OF WAITING

Florida Couple Wed in London, Hour To Spare

LONDON—(AP)—A pretty girl from Jacksonville, Fla., arrived by air yesterday to marry her childhood sweetheart. She got here less than two hours before the ceremony, but she made it.

The girl is 22-year-old Eleanor James. Her bridegroom is Millard Phillips, 21, also of Jacksonville.

"I am over here on business," Phillips told a reporter. "I cabled Eleanor to come over because I just did not want to wait any longer to marry her. We have been going together ever since we got into high school seven years ago."

The plane arrived three and a half hours late. By the time Eleanor cleared customs she had an hour to meet the minister in St. Stephen's Church.

Phillips and his bride rushed to a hotel by car and he paced the floor while she changed into her wedding gown. They got to the church with ten minutes to spare.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips plan a Paris honeymoon.

Profit-Taking Cuts Rise in Grains

CHICAGO—(AP)—Wheat futures climbed more than a cent a bushel to new seasonal highs Friday before profit-taking cut into the upturn.

Early buying by export interests indicated the Government again was in the cash market, traders said, following heavy purchases the first four days in the week. December, May and July wheat futures hit new seasonal peaks.

Late selling was influenced partly by a late trade report that the Government had reduced its wheat buying a cent a bushel at Kansas City, to 21½ cents over the Chicago September contract, f.o.b. vessel at the gulf. The Government is offering 15½ cents over September for cash wheat, f.o.b. Philadelphia, unchanged from yesterday.

Corn climbed with wheat, but reacted somewhat at times. Soybeans were strong most of the time.

Wheat closed ⅛ to ¾ higher than the previous finish, September $2.10¼-⅜, corn was 1⅛ up to ⅝ down, September $1.25⅝-½, oats were ¼ higher to ⅛ lower, September 68⅝, rye was ¼ off to ¼ up, September $1.46, soybeans were 1 to 2¼ cents higher, November $2.30¼-$2.30, and lard was 8 cents a hundred pounds higher to 3 cents lower, September $12.07.

Narrow Price Ranges Feature N. Y. Cotton

NEW YORK—(AP)—Trading in cotton futures was again confined to narrow price ranges Friday, although the market was displaying a steady undertone.

The volume of trading was the quietest for any session so far this week. While some liquidation came into nearby October delivery, the selling was absorbed by trade price fixing.

Hedging pressure also was apparent, but in the aggregate this type of selling was light.

It was explained that the new cotton crop movement was being delayed by recent rains over most of the cotton belt, which tended to reduce hedge sales in futures.

Interest was attached to CCC release that loans covering only 4,493 bales were made on the 1949 crop up to Sept. 8. A year ago up to Sept. 9 loans on the 1948 crop amounted to 114,002 bales.

Futures closed 40 cents a bale higher to 10 cents lower than the previous close.

Liquidation, Hedging Drop N. O. Cotton

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—After advancing in the early trading here Friday, cotton futures gradually eased off under weekend long liquidation and hedge selling. Closing prices were steady 35 cents a bale lower to 15 cents higher. Trading was quiet throughout the session.

Continued wet weather in the belt, larger August domestic consumption estimates and favorable textile reports caused the early demand.

Labor Unrest Ignored by Bonds

NEW YORK — (AP) — Railroad bonds pushed higher Friday as if all were serene on the labor front.

Gains ranging from high fractions to more than a point for a wide assortment of carrier obligations showed buyers had decided to overlook the strife between management and the unions that threatens to erupt in strikes in the steel and coal industries.

The bulk of railroad traffic is composed of steel products, steel and coal. A strike in either industry now would have serious effect on the railroads, which have just passed through a Summer marked by the slimmest traffic pickings in years.

By the start of the final trading hour, gains outnumbered losses by at least two to one.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Heavy trading took place Friday in the domestic No. 6 sugar futures market. No. 5 contract was quiet. Cuban dealers and shorts were aggressive buyers in the domestic No. 6 contract. DRYGOODS REPORT

NEW YORK—(AP)—Heavy inquiry for print cloths was again reported in the Worth Street textile market Friday. All types of goods were wanted and buyers were seeking nearby as well as first quarter 1950 delivery goods. The market was strong. In some cases mills advanced prices in hopes of discouraging business. The woolen goods market was slightly unsettled by Thursday's sharp drop in raw wool prices on the New York Exchange. However, dealers reported that a strong underlying demand prevailed for many constructions. Rayon dealers revealed that a strong demand for all types of goods had made its appearance and prices for many constructions were advanced from ¼ of a cent to 1⅛ cents a yard.

Stocks Stage Slow, Persistent Advance

NEW YORK — (AP) — Ominous labor news failed to stop a slow but persistent advance in the stock market Friday.

Gains were mainly fractional, a handful topping a point. Even limited improvement, though, was enough to lift 67 shares to the top prices of the year. None hit bottom for 1949.

The possibility that strikes might clamp down on steel and soft coal production within a matter of days was a dominant factor in early trade. Business was comparatively slow and price changes inconclusive. Gradually buying interest perked up and business livened.

The direction was forward for the rest of the day, with closing quotations in most cases at or near the best marks hit during the session.

Rail stocks did better than most other groups, a somewhat surprising development in view of the effect on railway earnings a coal strike could have. Steels didn't attract much attention one way or another but closed on a steady footing.

Turnover amounted to 1,160,000 shares, even with Thursday. It was the fifth time in a row that volume exceeded 1,000,000 shares.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks edged up .1 of one point to 65.5. The rail section did best, followed by the utility group. Industrials were unchanged. A total of 979 individual issues changed hands, smallest of the week, of which 478 advanced and 253 declined.

The action of the market indicated that a steel strike, if called at all, would be short-lived. Many observers figured that neither steel, labor or management wanted a strike and that the argument over who should pay for workers' pensions could be settled at the negotiating table, possibly only a short time before the Sept. 25 deadline.

Exchanges between leaders of each side during the day, however did little to encourage this belief.

In the coal situation, the most widely held theory was that a walkout might hit only the southern producers. Events after the close of trading cast some doubt on this reasoning.

The market's aplomb Friday was credited in part to the impressive showing made Thursday when labor-management relations appeared to be steadily worsening.

Earlier this week the market rode high on a wave of buying credited mainly to sudden optimism over prospects for peaceful solution of the steel pension problem. The advance carried the general price level almost to the year's peak.

Wednesday and Thursday small losses outweighed small gains and today the forward trend was resumed.

Business news, of course, had not been ignored during the week. Fall trends, assuming no severe labor trouble, appeared to be shaping up nicely and played an important part in generating demand for stocks.

WHAT TO EXPECT TODAY
Sun in Virgo

General Tendencies — Over-optimism may be an attitude common to this period, but aside from that trend towards thinking in big figures, the day is lively, enjoyable and good for personal discussions. Deal with people in high places; don't waist time telling your ambitions to those who could not, and maybe would not, further them or help you along. You may have to pay some bills here or spend more money than you had expected to do—this can easily be a part of the social side of the day. It's over-expansive—entertainment is apt to be lavish. However, one and all will have a good time.

If It's Your Birthday — You may push your interest all during the coming six weeks, but after the first of 1950 take things slowly for a while. There will be some delay in your plans and extra efforts on your part will not help greatly. Then, after a siege of waiting for others to make up their minds, you may make a quick turn around the middle of May. You would do better in 1949 than in 1950, however, so don't wait unless you are forced into it. This applies to marriage, too; you have a chance to contact congenial people here. If you want partnership, it is willin', like Barkis. This move will not mean financial advances, however.

4TH SOUTHEASTERN SHOW

Frenchman Among Artists Preparing for Exhibit

By BETSY HOPKINS

With the fourth annual Southeastern Art Exhibit set for Oct. 2-16 at High Museum of Art, local artists, professional and amateur, are daubing the last perfecting strokes on their masterpieces with critical eyes and careful hands.

Among the artists planning to exhibit in the Davison-Paxon Junior League-sponsored show is Amateur Jean Pierre Fromme, a Frenchman who, while Americans swarmed French art academies, came to the U. S. to take up his art studies.

Employed by a local decorating firm, Fromme is professionally bound to decorative art, but he turns out some striking impressionistic water colors in his spare moments.

"I love painting," he explains, "but it's always had to be extra-curricular for me."

Fromme has exhibited his water colors at the Art Students League in New York. He has never explored the tortuous realms of oils, however, but plans to when he has more time.

The youthful dauber came to the U. S. in 1942, when he was 17, and studied painting and decorating at Columbia University and Parsons School of Design. After three and one-half years' service with the U. S. Army Intelligence Service, Fromme returned to New York to open his own decorating firm, and two months ago came to Atlanta to work.

Speaking English with an accent that has become more Southern than French, Fromme vows that he detests modern art. "I have listened to numerous lectures on the subject, but it doesn't help. I still don't understand it," he smiles, "so I don't like it."

The whimsical-eyed Frenchman was surprised at Atlantans' lack of interest in art. "Here people spend thousands of dollars for their lavish, tastefully decorated homes, yet they are not interested in paintings," he declared.

"A room can be decorated around a beautiful painting. People don't see this. They need chairs to sit in, they need tables—these are practical needs for which they will pay well, but they don't feel the need for paintings," he added.

Speaking on the difference between the French and American attitudes toward art, Fromme declares that in France art is a career. "There," he proclaims, "one can do nothing but paint, sell nothing, and still be highly respected. Here such a man would be considered a loafer. In America the masses are not interested in art as they are in France."

Fromme also deplores the lackadaisical attitude of American art schools. "They do not take art seriously enough. It is studied as though it were more of an avocation than a career. In France one studies art day and night, visiting the galleries in his spare time, learning anatomy, architecture, sculpture, as well as painting."

"You know," he added, "it takes years of work to be a good artist. It is a terrible struggle. It can't be done easily or taken lightly."

The French youth views these conflicting ideas as the old struggle between the materialist and idealist, and the basic difference between the French and the Americans.

Although his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Fromme (his father is a motion picture producer) still live in France, the 24-year-old painter, who now resides on Andrews Drive, plans to make his home here.

"The people of France have little money to spend on decoration," he declares. "There is not much future for the decorator there, for, despite the boost to French economy rendered by the Marshall Plan, France is not yet what she used to be."

Bond Refund Rejection Is Upheld

The Georgia Legislature had no authority to refund E. E. Washburn $15,000 in bond money posted for Fred Martin, lottery operator here, the State Supreme Court decided Thursday.

The high court affirmed the Fulton Superior Court's verdict in the suit in which Washburn, a bondsman, tried to obtain the refund from Mrs. Mabel McNeill, Fulton County Treasurer.

The bond was forfeited when Martin failed to appear in court. Six months later he was in the custody of the Sheriff. The bondsman said he placed him in the Sheriff's custody, but the Supreme Court said there was no evidence submitted to this effect.

Early this year, the Georgia House passed a resolution to have the Fulton County Treasurer refund the forfeited bond to Washburn. Mrs. McNeill refused to refund the money, and Washburn brought mandamus action.

The Supreme Court said the House Resolution conflicted with the State Constitution, which prohibits the Legislature from granting a donation or gratuity in favor of any person, corporation, or association.

The decision was written by Judge David Atkinson, of Savannah, who sat on the Supreme Court for Justice Bond Almand of Fulton County.

Many Books Read

ALBANY—An all-time high circulation was reached at the Carnegie Library in the three Summer months ending Aug. 31, Mrs. Virginia Riley, Librarian, reported. During the three months, in which Reading Clubs were conducted for school children, 20,782 books were circulated among the youngsters.

Should a mother "bargain with love"?

Answer: No, writes Lawrence K. Frank in the Bulletin of the Michigan Society for Mental Hygiene. Making a child feel you love him only when he is "good" (especially since he never is quite sure what "good" means) robs him of self-confidence and gives him a painful sense of insecurity. "What the baby and child needs is unconditional love—love that does not falter or change with his emotional fluctuations . . . nor withdraw when he becomes independent or rebellious." You may tell him you do not like his behavior, but never say: "You are bad."

Can Neurosis Be Completely Cured?

Answer: No. For one thing, the emotional distortion out of which it has developed affects in some measure every aspect of the mind and personality, so that to correct every result of its influence—from the person's political beliefs to his taste in music—would take a lifetime, and in many cases would hardly be worth the trouble. (Your dislike of spinach may be fundamentally neurotic, but you can get your vitamins elsewhere.) At best, mental treatment helps solve your most painful problems so that you can become reasonably happy.

Is It Failing Glands That Make Us Grow Old?

Answer: Not alone, at any rate, says Dr. C. E. Hall, of the University of Texas. Neither any single gland nor all of them together can be held solely responsible for the physical deterioration that takes place in old age. And besides, the glands themselves are handicapped by the decreased blood supply due to the hardening of the blood-vessels by which they are nourished. Old age actually involves a progressive "slow-down" of all bodily processes, and neither the glands nor any other single group of organs can be said to cause this.
